Young Men on Trial for Breaking and Entering
Chelmsford Camps

Milk Dealer Fined $50 on Adulterated Milk Charge—
Other Cases

The greater part of today's session of police court was taken up with the trial of two young men for breaking and entering and larceny from Chelmsford camps; the arraignment of a milk dealer for having adulterated milk, the hearing of a case in which a young man and woman were charged with a statutory offense, and three continued cases of illegal keeping and the other two for drunkenness.

The young men charged with breaking and entering were sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory, one of them with a two years' suspension. The other appealed. In the case of adulterated milk the dealer was fined $50 and appealed, and in the statutory offense case the defendants were given suspended sentences.

The charge of breaking and entering and larceny against Thomas H. Blackhouse and Percy W. Coffin, continued yesterday, concerned the breaks recently reported in camps in Chelmsford. Arthur F. Hoyt appeared.

"DR." JANE BISHOP DEAD

Figured in Famous Susan E.
Geary Suit Case Murder
Mystery 16 Years Ago

BOSTON, April 11.—"Doctor" Jane E. Bishop, 83 years of age, whose name was linked with the suit case murder mystery of 16 years ago in which Susan E. Geary proved to be the victim, is dead. Although her "manners" and "private hospitals" were continually raided and she faced jury trial on charges of illegal surgery, the sweet-faced woman had managed always to keep out of jail.

She lost a small fortune in speculation and paid out large sums in litigation. Yet she gave thousands of dollars to charity and her friends say that at least 25 young men have been legally adopted by her and given an education or a start in life. Mrs. Bishop's son-in-law, Louis W. Crawford, a confessed accessory in the disposal of Susan Geary's body, was sentenced to a long term in prison. Mrs. Bishop was discharged after being held as a witness in the case.

JOHN GRIFFIN OF AIKEN AVE. FOUND UNCONSCIOUS IN CELLAR

Mystery Surrounds Condition of Man Now at Hospital—Victim Not Seen Since Saturday Was Found by Neighbors Last Night as Result of Alarm Given by Milkman

John J. Griffin, of 83 Aiken avenue, was found unconscious on the floor of the cellar of his home last night, suffering either from a shock or from a fractured skull. He was taken to St. John's hospital and this noon had not regained consciousness. It is believed that whatever happened to him occurred Saturday, as he had not been seen since that time.

Mystery surrounds his condition and at first it was believed that he had met with foul play, but subsequent investigation renders this supposition more or less improbable. He has a bruise on his forehead that easily might have occurred through a fall, but there are burns and scald markings on one arm that physicians cannot account for.

Griffin, who is employed as a loom-fixer by the Merrimack Woolen Co. at its Navy Yard mill, has been living alone for several weeks. He was last seen on Saturday when he returned home from his work. On Sunday

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTS TEACHERS

Irregularity of Previous Election Was Straightened Out Last Night

Recommendation Not Followed in Appointment of Mr. O'Brien

The school committee last night legally elected Miss Margaret G. Riley a teacher of sewing in the elementary schools and Francis J. O'Brien an instructor of physical education.

Considerable controversy has arisen over these two new teachers inasmuch as their first salary payments were held up on recommendation of the budget and audit commission, who held that they had been illegally appointed, or appointed without an accompanying recommendation from the superintendent of schools.

Last night the superintendent gave a recommendation in each instance—in Miss Riley's case, the board followed it, but he recommended Francis J. Haggerty as a physical instructor, and the board elected Mr. O'Brien by a vote of 6 to 3.

Voting for Mr. O'Brien were Mr. Delaney, Mrs. Donovan, Dr. Meehan, Mr. Mullin, Mr. Sullivan and Mr. R. M. Continued to Page Seven

WHITE CROSSING LINES

Crossing and Safety Zone Lines Are Painted in Merrimack Square

Pedestrians passing through Merrimack square today found crossing lines marked out, connecting the four corners of the square in straight across directions. The white crossings were painted last night, or rather very early this morning, after vehicular traffic ceased. The work was done under the supervision of Officer Edward Connors, chief of the local traffic squad.

The new crossing paths are an experiment and will be watched by the city engineering department and the police for a few days to determine the wearing quality of the paint. If the paint proves satisfactory, plans to mark all much used downtown crossings will be carried out and also every hydrant situated on paved streets will be safety-zoned to prohibit parking.

From observation today, it was noted that nine out of ten persons use the new crossing lanes as a matter of course and there was a material decrease in the number of jay walkers. The traffic officers point out, however, that the experiment is being tried out at the busiest and hardest intersection of streets in the entire city and it will be some time before people are educated not to cross the square diagonally.

In addition to the crossing lines, a safety zone for street car passengers has been painted on the pavement in Bridge street and two fire hydrants in the square one in front of the Fairbairn building and another in front of the Groverman block has been marked out for a distance of 10 feet on either side. These, in themselves, are "no parking" signs.

If the paint wears satisfactorily, safety zones for street car passengers will be placed on both sides of Merrimack street, also. It is not the wish to unnecessarily mark the pavement, but it is felt that a great deal of congestion can be obviated if the proper markings are laid out.

PRESENT TARIFF BILL TO SENATE

Measure as Rewritten by Senate Finance Committee Republicans Submitted

Will Be Taken Up April 24—Long Fight May Continue for Three Months

WASHINGTON, April 11. (By the Associated Press).—The administration tariff bill as rewritten by senate finance committee republicans on the basis for foreign valuation with provisions for flexible rates and proclaimed American valuation as recommended by President Harding, was presented today to the senate. It was announced that it would be taken up April 21. A long fight is in prospect with some estimates that it might continue for three months.

Taken as a whole, the bill, according to estimates of committee experts, averages slightly higher than the Payne-Aldrich law, the last republican protective tariff act. As compared with the house measure, the specific rates generally are higher, but the ad valorem rates generally are lower as such rates in the house bill were based on American valuation. Treasury experts have estimated roughly that the bill will raise from $300,000,000 to $350,000,000 of revenue annually, but they have not yet had time to complete accurate calculations. The house measure was estimated to raise $300,000,000, while the Underwood law yielded between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000.

PROMINENT EDUCATOR DEAD

PAWTUCKET, R. I., April 11.—Frank O. Draper, for 16 years superintendent of public schools in this city, and prominent in educational circles in New England, died today. He formerly held a similar office in Hyde Park, Mass.

SUMMER UNIFORMS FOR THE POLICE

Acting Superintendent Macfarlane of the police department, was in conference today with representatives of a clothing uniform house, relative to the new summer style uniforms for the entire department. The acting superintendent is inclined to favor a semi-military cut for the uniforms; this would do away with the belts used at present.

The police head is also in favor of a new uniform for motorcycle officers, and it is probable that it will be adopted. The uniform is of bottle green whipcord, full military officers' style, with Sam Browne belts and full armament worn on the outside. A proposition is under consideration by which the motorcycle officers will pay half the cost of the suit.

A recent addition has been made to the motorcycle squad in the person of M. J. Connors, a new appointee to the regular force. According to the acting superintendent's plans, five officers will be on duty in various parts of the city in the daytime, observing the method in which the traffic laws are carried out in the evening. One man will be on duty in the evening, to watch auto lights, supervise traffic, and make frequent visits to the boulevard. The squad is in charge of the senior officer, Charles Hamilton, and the other members are Bernard Judge, M. J. Connors, William Murphy, Walter Kivian and Daniel Lynch.

Ignorance Russia's Protest
GENOA, April 11.—(By the Associated Press)—At this afternoon's meeting of the principal conference committee, which is to consider Russian affairs, Foreign Minister Chicherin of Russia protested against the presence of the Rumanian and Japanese delegates, because Rumania was occupying Bessarabia and Japan was occupying portions of Siberia.

Premier Facta of Italy who was presiding over the committee, declined to consider the Russian protest, giving as his reason that all the countries invited to the conference had a right to be represented on the committee.

French Delegate Pleased at

GENOA, April 11.—(By the Associated Press) Admission of Russian and German representatives to the principal committee of the economic conference was strongly opposed today by both French and Belgian representatives. Premier Lloyd George, together with Premier Facta and Foreign Minister Schanzer of Italy intervened, however, and their conciliatory attitude finally resulted in the admittance of both the Russians and the Germans.

The opposition to the presence of the delegates from the two countries was an outgrowth of the Franco-Russian incident at the opening session of the conference. M. Barthou for France, but more especially M. Theunis for Belgium, placed themselves in opposition to the German and Russian representatives being admitted to the principal committee, while the representatives of the smaller countries which fought with the allies were excluded.

Premier Facta and Lloyd George and Signor Schanzer maintained it would be impossible not to permit the Russians and the Germans to be represented on the committee which was to deal chiefly with the problems affecting Germany and Russia. They argued that the exclusion of these delegates would stultify the objects of the committee, because all were in agreement that the co-operation of Russia and Germany was indispensable to the reconstruction of Europe.

Premier Theunis in his argument declared the Germans were unworthy of taking part in the work of a committee of such importance in association with the representatives of honorable countries.

The discussion became so heated that Mr. Lloyd George declared emphatically that if such an intemperate spirit was going to prevail, it might be as well immediately to break up the conference, the principal object of which was to readmit Russia and Germany to the European family.

The work of reconciliation undertaken by Premier Facta and Signor Schanzer was finally successful in bridging the crisis and securing the admission of the Russian and German representatives.

FOR MARRIAGE SERVICE

Women Now Equals of Men and Hence Vows Should Be Reciprocal

NEW YORK, April 11.—Women in the United States are, in nearly all respects, the equals of men, and, therefore, the promises and vows of the man and woman at marriage should be reciprocal.

Such is the substance of a statement made today by George Zabriskie, member of the commission on revision of the Book of Common Prayer of the Episcopal church. In explanation of some of the changes the commission will recommend to the general convention of the church in Portland, Ore., next September.

"In reviewing the marriage service, the commission," he said, "considered that the status of woman has greatly changed since the service was incorporated in the prayer book in 1789 and has changed far more since the compilation of the medieval rite of the 12th and 13th centuries from which it was derived."

The common law at that time regarded the personality of a married woman as merged for most purposes in the personality of her husband, a legal conception which, recognized by the church, persisted through the reformation, Mr. Zabriskie added.

He declared that the duty of obedience now had been abrogated and that women enjoyed, both in law and through social convention, privileges and immunities which were even denied to men. And so the commission, he said, had decided it was necessary that the obsolete part of the marriage service—the promises of the woman to obey—be made to conform to the facts of life.

Take Your College Course at Home
By Radiophone! It's Being Done

BY JOHN A. COUSINS.

President of Tufts College, Medford, Mass.

MEDFORD, Mass., April 11.—The development of the wireless telephone to such an extent that limited college courses may be given by means of it is now an accomplished fact.

Already lectures by members of the Tufts college faculty have been broadcast from the distributing station on the campus.

A committee of professors, appointed by the faculty to investigate further possibilities of the radio in connection with college education, has formulated important plans.

The lectures sent out to date have been those with popular appeal. The first lecture was by Professor Wooster of the economics department on "The Story of Money."

It is quite possible to organize radio lectures into regular college courses, but the desirability of attempting this end and the practical obstacles which would have to be overcome constitute a question for the future.

Certainly fullest possibilities are worth striving for, because any method which tends to make knowledge more valuable is of immense value.

Tufts college's special interest in the wireless telephone is due to the laboratory on the campus of the radio laboratory of the American Radio and Research corporation, a company organized by Tufts men who have received their training in the Tufts Engineering school.

The facilities of this laboratory, used by advanced students in the engineering courses, were placed at the disposal of the college for use in connection with the million-dollar endowment fund now being raised.

The radio advertised the campaign for funds with good results.

Then the idea arose that the station might be used as a direct adjunct of the college. On investigation we discovered that radiophone lectures by members of the faculty proved interesting to those who listened to them.

Hence it was decided to continue and elaborate upon this departure in educational service.

Both the engineering and liberal arts school are represented on the faculty committee in charge.

to plunge himself into the river last night.

Watchers from the shore for a time feared the frail-craft would be capsized. The grief-stricken father was finally subdued.

Carries Body Ashore

Another outburst of grief was witnessed as the boat neared the shore. The father, grunting up the body, turned into the river, in order up to his waist and, crying pitifully, carried the boy in his arms to shore.

On the shore he placed the body tenderly on the grass, bent over it and poured out his grief.

Forys was in his yard in Bowdoin street, on an embankment above the river, when he saw a boy swimming about 100 yards off shore, toward a dangerous current.

Saw the Boy Sink

Never giving thought that it might be his own boy, he ran to the river and plunged in. He had waded out a way when he saw the boy's head sink below the surface. A swift current in the river had made the boy's fight fruitless.

Forys called the police. Still unmind-

WAVES OF SOUND BECOME WORDS

Radio Currents Generated so Audible Responses Result in Headpiece Receiver

Expert Duncan Discloses Secret of Transmitting by Rectifying Current

BY R. L. DUNCAN, Director, Radio Institute of America

How are discontinuous or damped radio waves received?

They are sent out by radio frequency currents generated in audio frequency groups by the charge and discharge of a condenser on a circuit using alternating current.

Some means must be resorted to so that the audible response is obtained in the head phones of the receiving station. But how?

By rectifying the alternating current.

There are certain elements that have this property of being rectifiers. Among the crystallines, there are iron pyrites, silicon, carbundum, molybdenite and galena which may be used. The last is considered most preferable.

These elements, however, will rectify only signals originating from an alternating current.

Although telephone communication has a direct source of supply, it is so modulated by the microphone transmitter that we compare it to an alternating current for simplicity.

The rectifier is connected in series with the telephone in the receiving circuit upon which the incoming waves are impressed.

And the incoming wave trains from the distant transmitting stations are caught by the receiving aerial.

They go down the circuit to the detector that rectifies them. One-half of the wave train is suppressed.

They are then translated into a group of decayed direct current impulses which pass on through the phone headpiece in a wave.

ful that the victim might be his boy, he offered to direct the searchers, under Police Sergeant John Perkins.

A promission seemed to come over the father during the search.

"It just dawned on me," he told the police, "that I haven't seen my son. Boleshaw, this afternoon. He's nine. This boy didn't look older than that. I hope nothing has happened to my son."

Within a few minutes, Patrolman John Ward had pulled the body of Forys' son from the water.

Playmates of the boy said they were playing on Sonoma court when Boleshaw ran down the steep embankment. He tripped at the foot of the embankment and fell into the water. The current was so swift it fast carried him from shore.

BANDITS AGAIN ACTIVE

Increased Revolutionary and Bandit Activity in Several Mexican States

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(By the Associated Press) Official advice received here today indicates increased

WHAT CAUSES HEADACHES?

"Fruit-a-lives" Prevents Auto-Intoxication

Auto-intoxication means self-poisoning. Many people suffer from partial constipation or insufficient action of the bowels. Waste matter which should pass out of the body every day, poisons the blood.

As a result, there is Headache, Indigestion, disturbed Stomach, lack of sleep, Rheumatism and Eczema.

"Fruit-a-lives" will always relieve Auto-intoxication as these fruit tablets, made from fruit juices, act gently on the bowels, kidneys and skin and keep the blood pure.

revolutionary and bandit activity in the states of Vera Cruz, Jalisco and Nayarit, in Mexico. The rebels in Nayarit were reported to number from 200 to 300 men under the leadership of Pablo Gonzalez. In Jalisco, six separate bands were reported in the field in open rebellion against the central government, although their strength thus far is regarded as insignificant. The activity in Vera Cruz was reported to have assumed considerable importance in view of the defeat which the rebel leader, General Miguel Aleman, with a band estimated at 800 men recently administered to the federal forces.

The spread of radicalism, it was reported, continues unabated, with impetus being given to the movement by emissaries from various countries, including the United States.

The Stump Eating Machine

S. M. HURD, LOUISIANA FARMER, OPERATING THE STUMP-REMOVING DEVICE HE INVENTED.

(By N. E. A. Service)
NEW ORLEANS, April 10.—A mechanical device that chews up stumps, roots and all, and bates them for use as fuel, is expected to clear thousands of acres of cutover land, now the despair of farmers.

The new machine is the invention of Sylvester M. Hurd, Springfield, La., farmer. Southern lumbermen are watching its development with interest, for it should make possible the clearing and cultivation of much land now idle.

Hurd's device is fastened to the front of a tractor. It looks like an airplane propeller—two great sharp blades crossed at right angles.

These blades are pointed and closely set with sharp steel teeth.

The operator drives his tractor to a stump and sets the device in action. There's a shower of dirt and wooden chips. The blade sinks 15 inches into the ground, destroying the deepest roots of the stump.

In two minutes the stump has disappeared. There's only a jagged hole in the ground.

An attachment collects the chips and automatically bates them for use as fuel or, if the wood is pine, for the extraction of turpentine.

Hurd, former oil man in Mexico, settled on his Springfield farm 15 years ago. He found the stumps defied every effort to grub, pull or dynamite them.

Then he set about making a stump-eating machine.

Conspiracy to Violate Dry Act Alleged

NEW YORK, April 11.—Conspiracy to violate the Volstead prohibition enforcement act is alleged in an indictment unsealed in federal court today, naming as defendants Herbert G. Catrow, formerly assistant prohibition enforcement director for New York state; Benjamin Silver; Walter Ruby; David F. McGowan; Samuel P. Speckler; Frank Fallon and the Hill and Hill Distilling Co.

Threaten Impeachment of Daugherty

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Representative Woodruff, republican, Michigan, said in the house today if the attorney general did not "fully look to the interests of the government" in a pending claim suit against the Lincoln Motor Co., he would "consider him guilty of misfeasance and move his impeachment." Mr. Woodruff's statement was made in the course of an extended speech in which he charged that the department of justice had failed to proceed in civil and criminal courts against a number of war contractors, on testimony brought out before congressional investigating committees.

FEW PICKETS ON DUTY TODAY

Lawrence Police Having Little to Do—Force May Be Reduced, Says Chief

United Textile Workers Plan to Organize Workers of American Woolen Co.

LAWRENCE, April 11.—Fewer pickets were on the streets today than has been the case with the exception of one stormy Saturday since the textile strike began here two weeks ago Monday. At the Acadia, Katama, Mopomac and Pemberton plants, the four which still throw open their gates each morning, there were not more than 100 pickets combined and police officers at the gates said that fewer than ever went into the plants to work.

The police officers are having very little to do and if the quiet that prevailed this morning continues this noon and tonight, it is probable, according to City Marshal Timothy J. O'Brien, that not so many will be called upon for duty tomorrow.

The United Textile Workers of America are laying their plans for organizing the workers of the American Woolen Co., and this morning announced that meetings of various workers will be held next Saturday afternoon for this purpose. It is in the plants of the American Woolen Co., that Tom Legera claims his organization has its greatest strength.

Legera is planning a sympathetic strike of the American Woolen Co.'s workers but President Thomas F. McMahon of the U.T.W. of A. says he is opposed to a sympathetic strike.

Edward T. Mercer, 21, sailor of Norfolk, Va., is under arrest in Baltimore following the finding of the mutilated body of his wife, Ruth, 20, in Chesapeake Bay at Ocean View. Mercer says he can establish his innocence and that he has not been in Ocean View for three years.

C.M.A.C. BOWLING LEAGUE
The date for the banquet, which will mark the closing of the C.M.A.C. Bowling league has been set as Monday evening, April 24. The festivities will be conducted in the assembly hall of the association and will be attended by the members of the various teams and a few invited guests. The president of the banquet will be Frank Cayer, chairman of the league, and the speakers will include Rev. E. G. Daugherty, O.M.L. Rev. Guillaume Ouellette, O.M.L. President J. A. X. Christian of the association and others. At the close of the dinner the team and individual prizes will be awarded.

POSTOFFICE TELEPHONES
Acting on a recommendation of former Postmaster Meahan, Acting Postmaster Delahue has given orders for the installation of telephones at the Middle street postoffice and the Postoffice garage in Perry street. These two telephones as soon as they are installed, will be connected with the switchboard at the main building in Courthouse at the number of which is 1215, so that after a few days any one having any business with the employees of the Middle street station or the Postoffice garage, may reach them by telephone.

200 GALLONS OF GIN STOLEN

WAREHOUSE POINT, Conn., April 11.—Theft of 200 gallons of gin from the bonded warehouse of the Bird-Daniels Co. here was reported to the police last night. The warehouse, which is guarded day and night, was entered last Friday night, it was said, and the gin removed from the buildings through a hole cut in a rear wall. The robbers had their own containers, the investigation shows, and loaded them on a motor truck nearby.

TO REORGANIZE EARL MOTORS, INC.

CHICAGO, April 11.—Announcement of the reorganization and refinancing of Earl Motors, Inc., was made today.

Few Report for Work at Quarries

ROCKLAND, Me., April 11.—The "open shop" declaration of the granite manufacturers in this section was without apparent result today in any of the six quarries affected by yesterday's action. The manufacturers expressed confidence, however, that tomorrow would see a resumption of activities, which were suspended by the strike on April 1.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT

Mass. Still Has 4754 Survivors of the Civil War, Says Commander Morrell

BOSTON, April 11.—Massachusetts still has 4754 survivors of the Civil War, Department Commander Edwin F. Morrell of Everett, reported at the 56th annual state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which opened in Faneuil hall today. About 500 of the survivors attended the meeting.

The post at Palmer disappeared during the year, Commander Morrell said, adding that "quite a number have less than 10 survivors left." The department lost 347 members by death since the last encampment, he reported. "Let us who still survive take courage in the fact that as the years speed away the tie of the fraternity grows stronger," he added.

One thousand new schools are to be opened in Argentina this year.

JOFFRE TO UNVEIL BUST OF GRANT

NEW YORK, April 11.—Marshal Joffre has accepted an invitation to unveil a bust of General U. S. Grant in the Hall of Fame at New York university on April 27, the centennial of the general's birth.

The bust is by Henry Shrady, whose equestrian statue of General Grant is to be unveiled in Washington on the same day.

QUARRY REOPENED

CONCORD, N. H., April 11.—The John Swenson granite quarry in this city, closed since the inauguration of the strike throughout New England, reopened this morning with eight men at work under the American or open shop plan. The granite cutters' union here as a body has refused to consider a proposal for individual contracts with employers.

NEW GINGHAMS FOR ALL PURPOSES

Imitation is said to be the sincerest form of flattery, and the fact that all are now masquerading in gingham effects tells to what heights the once humble gingham has climbed along the road to sartorial prominence.

Gingham is used for almost everything under the sun this season. It makes the draperies and upholstery coverings in nursery or informal bungalow and cottage bedrooms; it is used to trim some of the smartest frocks and blouses. It is even, this season, made into bathing suits, as Palm Beach has noted. But its greatest and most popular use has been and probably always will be for informal frocks.

The exquisitely fine tissue gingham, now offered in such a wealth of designs, colors and shades, puts gingham definitely into the class of the very finest of woman's summer fabrics, suitable for summer shopping, country club and resort wear, even for informal afternoon affairs like porch parties and garden teas. Of course, gingham always has been liked for children's frocks.

Checks are the most popular design, say the mill heads and importers. In the fine tissue gingham the most sold are those combining a delicate shade with white in small checks from a quarter to half an inch square. Stripes are good, however, and are offered in a variety of widths and colors.

An Alpha pass in northern Italy was named for Pope Pius XI several years ago in tribute to his prowess as a mountaineer.

ed for the prosecution, saying several things were either missing or disarranged in his camp, including a flashlight. He said that he found Stackhouse in the camp, who told him the camp had been broken into.

George Whitney said his camp had been broken into and lots of stuff taken out. He claimed that his property had been taken to Hoyt's camp. He said one of the boys told him about

Both Whitney and Hoyt spoke

of conversations with the defendants in the presence of Officer Charles Petrie.

Officer Petrie was the next witness. He told of examining the Hoyt camp on Sunday. He arrested Stackhouse at the camp, asking him his name and if there was anyone else connected with the break. Stackhouse said the officer, admitted he had done wrong and later was confronted with Coffin and claimed him as an accomplice. After arrest, Stackhouse, it was stated, again admitted his guilt to Captain David Petrie at the local station.

Attorney George Allard for the defense, questioned the identification of footprints by the officers as those of the defendants. The witnesses had testified they had traced the footprints of the two from Hoyt's camp to Stackhouse's residence, where both boys reside. Officer Petrie admitted the footprints had not been measured.

Mrs. Stackhouse testified to the boys' good records and industry. John H. Lane followed for the defense, testifying that Coffin worked for him in the past and he had offered him work for the future.

The judge said that it was a sad case for the mother, but that he intended to stop the continued breaking into camps. Stackhouse was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory and Coffin received the same sentence, with a two-years' suspension. Stackhouse appealed and was held in $500 bonds for superior court.

Milk Law Violation

Joe Smith appeared for violation of the milk law. John J. Coughlin, assistant milk inspector, testified that ## he had taken six samples from Smith's

wagon on one day and turned them over to Milk Inspector Melvin Menter. Inspector Menter told of the analysis of the milk, quoting figures to show it was under grade, with a water content of 25 per cent.

Judge Enright assessed the minimum fine for this offense, $50. On appeal, the defendant was held in bonds to the amount of $300 for superior court.

Sentences Suspended

Maxine Borakos and Alfred Leavitt were charged with a statutory offense. Capt. David Petrie, Sgt. James Kennedy and the woman's husband testified for the prosecution. After hearing the story told by the defendants, the man was given a sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory, and the woman was committed to the women's reformatory at Sherborn, both sentences suspended for two years.

Other Offenders

Wladyslaw Nallwaiko, charged with drunkenness, and brought in on a capias because of his non-appearance yesterday, faced the court this morning. His wife testified that he abused her when drunk. An alleged companion of Wladyslaw was called forward, and Mrs. Nallwaiko said he had no money and took her husband out and got him drunk. The man denied this volubly. Judge Enright ordered Nallwaiko and his wife to appear later, placing them under bonds of $300 each in the meantime.

Peter Duddis, who was continued from yesterday on a drunkenness complaint, was continued a week, because his wife is reported ill and could not appear today.

Thomas E. Bourke, for illegal keeping, was continued until April 21.

DID NOT ASK FOR WAGE INCREASE

Local 72, Coal Teamsters' union through its secretary, Telephore Cardina, takes exception to a statement attributed to a local coal dealer to the effect that the coal teamsters of this city demanded an increase in wages beginning April 1 of the present year. In his reply to the alleged statement, Mr. Cardina quotes article three of the agreement between the coal teamsters and the dealers, which he claims is sufficient to refute any statement of that nature. Mr. Cardina's statement is as follows:

"In article three of our agreement, the wording is that 'wages are to remain as they are' and I don't see how any dealer can say from that we demanded an increase of pay. Moreover, the letter from the secretary of the dealers' association, which was written in answer to our articles of agreement, said nothing concerning an increase, and simply stated that the present wages would remain as they are until the adjustment of the differences at the mines. It is unfair to our union and to ourselves to say that we demanded an increase in wages when our own articles of agreement state specifically that the wages are to remain as they are."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

R. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Among the funniest sketches seen here in a long time is "The Rubes," presented at R. F. Keith's theatre this week by Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Barry. The pair have visited Lowell in the same vehicle many times in the past, and some changes have been made in the sketch, but Mr. and Mrs. Barry remain among the best mirth-provokers in the business.

As "The Rubes," Mr. Barry puts more comedy over the footlights than the average comedian, and does it in a style that is imitable. Mrs. Barry, as an actress enjoying the handiwork of a hayseed stage door Johnnie, is exceptionally clever, and the

Lady Recovers Health After Serious Nervous Break-down Claims Wincarnis Did It

"Some time ago I had a very serious nervous break-down. I became so weak, fretful, irritable and excitable that the least little thing made my heart flutter and my limbs tremble as though I had a chill. I was utterly unable to control my emotions and a clasp of thunder would make me shiver from terror. I finally became so depressed, fidgety and debilitated that I sometimes felt actually ashamed of myself. I lost a great deal of weight and simply could not get any restful sleep."

I began taking Wincarnis and after a very short time the improvement in my whole condition was nothing less than startling. Every organ commented on the wonderful improvement of my condition. Today I am completely restored to health and never feel the slightest trace of nervousness. My appetite is excellent, I sleep soundly every night, am cheerful all the time and have an abundance of energy. I do wish that every nervous or broken-down woman could know what a wonderful tonic and restorative Wincarnis is."

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

spectators thoroughly enjoy the sudden turn at the end when the rubs shows himself wiser than the city folks.

Another good comedy offering is that of Josie Rooney, in "A Cafe Hymn." Besides proving herself a clever singer and dancer and a worthy member of the famous Rooney family, she displays an attractive mannerism all her own. Her dancing specialties, in one of which she gives an imitation of her brother Pat, are about the best seen here during the season, and her comediness does not in the least detract from her instant popularity. She is assisted by Bobby Nelson and Rubie Beckwith, one a pianist and the other a violinist and dancer.

The Hegedus sisters, violinists, present a pleasing musical act. Each of the sisters plays a violin selection and the third number on their program is a selection for two violins. Miss Herma Hegedus opens with Chopin's "Nocturne," with sister Margie at the piano, and in the next selection, "Tonde des Luths," by Bazzini, the sisters reverse their positions, Miss Margie taking the violin solo. Both girls are Austrians, who have been in this country about four months.

A good trio act is presented by Sharkey, Roth and Wit. They combine themselves a triple alliance of song, music and fun. Judging their work by last night's performance, they have all the goods included in their own description.

Hungarian dances, grand opera and jazz selections are among the offerings of Countess Verona, who plays the harpsichord, but played with hammer. The young woman has a splendid setting, and her costume, of rich colors, sets off her dark complexion amazingly. She knows where the applause is, too, for her eyes were constantly seeking the lofty perches of the gallery, whence applause comes.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris, in "Bum-Voyage," present a fine comedy skit in which Mr. Morati proves himself an excellent humorist. Miss Harris, a well equipped comedienne.

The "Silent Funsters," Montambu and Nap, close the bill with an excellent tumbling specialty. The Fabian Topics of the Day, Pathé News and a traveling form the motion picture attractions.

THE STRAND THEATRE

Two Lowell favorites appear at the Strand Theatre the first three days of the week. They are Tom Moore, the noted comedian, who is being featured in a comedy-drama entitled "The Ground Up," and Lottie Pickford, sister of the famous Mary, who is holding the title role in "They Shall Pay," a most gripping melo-drama.

From the Broadway, Mr. Moore impersonates "Terrence Gilgley," who ditches for a living. Terrence is also musically inclined and his favorite instrument is the harmonica, which he enjoys playing during his spare moments. One day while he is employed on the erection of a sky-scraper as a valet to a steam shovel, he is visited by the daughter of the owner of the building, who is very much interested in his musical efforts. One day Terrence saves the life of his employer's son and in payment the father invests part of Terrence's wages and makes a thousand dollars for him. This brings Terrence into prominence and gives him a good start in life with the result that when the building is finished he is located on the top floor with spacious offices. Of course the young woman, who was interested in his musical efforts is brought back on the scene and what follows is very interesting.

"They Shall Pay" is a play based on the slogan "Revenge," and unfolds a most gripping story. It deals with a young woman whose sole ambition is to have three men who wronged her father, pay for their ill doings. It is very interesting how she plans to get back at her father's enemies and how she succeeds. The play contains numerous interesting scenes and just enough comedy to make it very pleasing. In addition to these clever productions there is also a delightful comedy and numerous interesting and instructive scenes of happenings in various parts of the world. The musical numbers also add materially to the success of the program.

RIALTO THEATRE

A screen attraction of exceptional merit opened a three day engagement at the Rialto theatre yesterday afternoon with the showing of "The Rosary." Love and sacrifice are the outstanding features in the strong theme, and added to that are many thrilling scenes, including the dynamiting of a large cannery factory and the attempt of a howling mob to lynch the perpetrator of the deed. It is a story written by Bernard McConville and directed by Jerome Storm, and in the direction of the film the latter has gained new laurels for himself within the circle of well known directors. An unusually strong cast appears in the plot, among whom are Jane Novak, Lewis Stone, Wallace Beery, Robert Gordon, Eugene Hesserer, Kathleen Whitton, Doris Davidson, Pomeroy Cannon, Mildred June and Harold Goodwin. There is also an added feature, with the appearance of Miss Harriet G. Moran, a local well known singer, who sings "The Rosary" and "In the Gloaming" in appropriate scenes.

On the same program at the Rialto for the three first days is a story of the Northwest Mounted Police entitled "Corporal Jim's Ward," a snappy comedy and the Kinograms.

The story of "The Rosary" taken from Edward E. Rose's famous stage play of the same name, opens in the little village of Sandy Bay which was founded by Ichabod Wright, a miserly millionaire. Everybody believes he will give the bulk of his fortune to his spendthrift son, Ichabod Wright, but he unexpectedly leaves it to Bruce Wilson in recognition of loyalty and enterprise. Wright tells Vera Malheran, an acquaintance from childhood, that he can stand the loss of the fortune if she will marry him, but she states that she is already engaged to Wilson. The blow is doubly severe and Wright, with a pirate's cunning, decides to ruin Wilson, hoping to undermine his character and the esteem in which he is held by the girl. It is then that Fr. Kelly enters in the role of pacifist.

The destructive plans which Wright is now formulating against Wilson are bearing fruit and the village is stirred by strange acts of lawlessness which bring about a conference between the villagers and the priest to determine who is responsible. Wilson is drawn into a net of contrivances which causes things look black for him until one day a huge cannery is dynamited by a gang of crooks who are caught in the act. They confess and prove the undoing of Wright, and Wilson is once more restored to the good graces of his girl. Explanations follow in order and there is satisfactory ending for all.

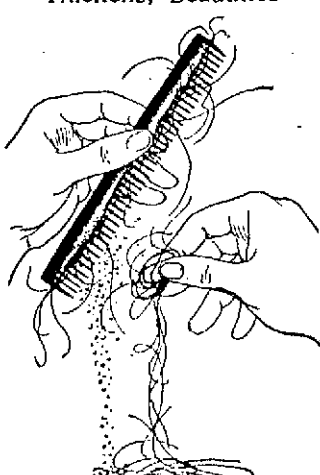

"Corporal Jim's Ward," the second feature on the Rialto program, carries a story of the northwoods, in which the daring of an officer of the Northwest Mounted, is featured. It is brimful of stirring action from start to finish and makes an ideal entertainment. The other attractions are well up to the usual standard of the theatre.

MORRIS SQUARE THEATRE

A double feature is presented at the Morris Square theatre for the first half of this week's show. Ethel Clayton is supposed to be the headliner in "The Cradle," but the honors must be divided with Alina Rubens who does the heavy work in "Find the Woman." Both productions are good, but the murder story, "Find the Woman," proves to be more interesting than "The Cradle." The mystery story deals with a young woman who becomes mixed up in a murder while looking for a position. At a party she meets a judge and also the assistant district attorney. She falls in love with the latter and is afraid to tell him of her part in the murder. The plot involves the girl's best friend, who is in love with the judge. The plot winds itself tightly and just when it looks the darkest for the young girl something out of the ordinary happens, a finger-print expert is called in and the plot

PICKETS OUT IN LARGE NUMBERS

Withdrawal of Troops Brings Increased Activity of Pickets at Pawtucket, R. I.

Try to Persuade Workers Who Had Returned to Mills to Rejoin Strikers

PAWTUCKET, R. I., April 11.—The announcement that the soldiers were to be withdrawn from the city today evidently caused the textile strike pickets to redouble their efforts to prevent workers from returning to the mills and also to persuade others who had returned to again join the ranks of the strikers. Last night the homes of several of the workers were picketed and the demonstrations that followed necessitated police interference. As a result, several arrests were made.

When about 50 workers, said to be bound for the Jencks Spinning Co.'s mills, arrived in electric cars from Providence today, they were met by a delegation of strikers and, after a conference, the workers returned to Providence, accompanied by some of the strikers.

The pickets were out in unusually large numbers this morning and gave particular attention to the mills of the Jencks Spinning and Crown Manufacturing companies. Most of the workers at these plants are conveyed in trucks or automobiles and are taken right into the yards without molestation. Some also walked to the mills and pass the pickets, some of whom become too eager to win them to their ranks with the result that arrests follow.

The police said there would be at least a half dozen strikers arraigned in the district court today.

PRINCE OF WALES NEARS YOKOHAMA POST

TOKIO, April 11.—(By the Associated Press.) The Prince of Wales today was nearing Yokohama where he will disembark for his official visit to Japan, said a wireless message from the battleship Renown, bearing the British heir apparent from India. Escorted by British and Japanese craft, the Renown, which struck exceptionally heavy seas Sunday, reached smoother water today.

Thousands of Japanese and foreign visitors, among whom were many Americans, planned to go to Yokohama to join in welcoming the prince, who will be escorted to Tokio through an avenue of spring blossoms which are now at their best. Large forces of police have been ordered to maintain the strictest guard along the route. The same precautions have been taken throughout Japan.

Premier Takahashi, in his official message of welcome, said the royal visitor's coming to Japan would "go down in history as an epoch heralding the growing harmony and accord between the east and the west."

MANUFACTURERS REPLY TO SHOE WORKERS

LYNN, April 11.—The Shoe Manufacturers' association, replying today to the United Shoe Workers' central rate committee's compromise offer to submit to a 15 per cent wage cut, said that wage reduction alone would not be sufficient to sustain the industry which was now carrying a load of highly overpaid and unskilled operation.

The rate committee had suggested the 15 per cent cut instead of one of 20 per cent proposed by the manufacturers. The new agreement to run until June 1, 1922, on a basis of a 45-hour week. The manufacturers insist that a 50-hour week is necessary to enable them to cut down overhead costs proportionately.

Their communication also objected to "unreasonable interference with hiring and work of help and other uneconomic conditions with which the industry is burdened." The reference was to the permit system by which the unions have issued cards qualifying operatives for work in a given craft at a stated shop.

The manufacturers also point out the need for grading factories so that wages will be uniform on each grade of shoes, and for rearranging wages on a basis of skill.

Bandits Rob Everett Girl of Payroll

EVERETT, April 11.—That two masked men held up and robbed Miss Anna McNeill, bookkeeper of a local machine company of the payroll of $131, on Saturday became known today when a reward for the arrest and conviction of the men was offered by the company. The men held up the young woman with pistols on the second floor of the company's plant. The police kept the robbery secret in the hope of apprehending the bandits.

Posed as Police to Blackmail Spooners

CAMBRIDGE, April 11.—Four police inspectors, two of them disguised as women, on a simulated spooning expedition in automobiles at Fresh Pond parkway late last night, served as decoys for the arrest of 10 young men, alleged to be members of gangs of young men, who posing as police, were blackmailing real spooners along the boulevard. Two of the men arrested had revolvers. The arrests were made by officers hidden in bushes nearby.

To Transport Lobster From Nova Scotia

OTTAWA, April 11.—A plea for a Canadian merchant marine vessel to ply between Eastern Nova Scotia ports and Boston for the transportation of live lobster, has been submitted to the Canadian government by members of parliament from that section. Shippers in the eastern part of the province, the delegation asserted, have no direct line to the New England markets, and so cannot compete with fishermen of Yarmouth and other west coast points.

Found Dead With Bullet Wound in Head

BOSTON, April 11.—John R. Hebert, 25 years old, was found dead in bed with a bullet wound through his head in the bedroom of his friend, James Omano in Dorchester, early today. A revolver was found at his side. Hebert and John Johnson were visiting Omano. The latter went across the street to visit his brother. A few minutes later, Johnson came running from the house shouting that Hebert had been roaming through the Omano apartment and had shot himself. Medical Examiner William Waters and the police are conducting an investigation. The police report on the case at present reads: "Sudden death."

ley, with Mr. Lambert, Mrs. Pearson and Dr. Slaughter following the superintendent's recommendation.

While Miss Riley's election went through without a ripple of protest, it was not so in Mr. O'Brien's case. Dr. Slaughter, particularly, spoke in favor of Mr. Haggerty, pointing out his long years of military service as making for an excellent qualification. When Mr. Molloy recommended Mr. Haggerty, he read the latter's letter of application and an accompanying letter of recommendation from Rev. D. A. Sullivan, O.M.I., for years the moving spirit of the O.M.I. Cadets.

Supt. Molloy hesitated to make a recommendation for a physical instructor until it was definitely settled whether or not the board was going to proceed to elect one. Mr. Delaney asked the superintendent for a recommendation and said:

"The superintendent is not a member of this board and no right to offer suggestions as to the manner in which we shall carry on our work."

The superintendent replied that he felt that he had a perfect right to suggest and that his suggestion should carry some weight. Chairman Riley called the meeting to order at 8:15 o'clock. All members were present.

The call for the special meeting was read, setting forth that the meeting was called for the purpose of electing a teacher of sewing in the elementary schools and an instructor of physical training.

The committee voted to the effect that the meeting held on Friday last, at which there were but six members present, be not considered a meeting in fact and that no minutes of that meeting be placed upon the records of the committee.

Chairman Riley read a portion of an opinion received by him from the city solicitor, in which it was set forth that any election of a teacher made without an accompanying recommendation by the superintendent is invalid.

Supt. Molloy recommended Miss Margaret G. Riley as a teacher of sewing in the elementary schools, and on a roll call vote the recommendation was unanimously accepted.

Miss Riley was then elected unanimously.

Mrs. Pearson asked whether or not at a previous meeting of the board Donald C. MacIntyre, in charge of physical training, had said that he did not need any additional instructors.

Mr. Molloy replied that Mr. MacIntyre had said that he did not need any more instructors and that the superintendent also voiced the same opinion.

Mrs. Pearson added that word had come to her that Mr. MacIntyre had had a great deal of trouble in arranging his schedule of instruction with the instructors now on hand, and said that she did not believe another teacher is necessary at this time.

Mr. Delaney asked that the superintendent be instructed to make a recommendation for the position of instructor of physical instruction in the elementary schools.

Before the superintendent gave his recommendation, Mr. Delaney moved that a roll call be taken to show whether or not the board wished to proceed to an election.

This vote carried, 5 to 3, with Mr. Sullivan not voting. Mr. Lambert, Mrs. Pearson and Dr. Slaughter voted against the motion.

Supt. Molloy in making a recommendation read a letter of application from Francis J. Haggerty and an accompanying recommendation from Rev. D. A. Sullivan, O. M. I. Subsequently Mr. Molloy recommended Mr. Haggerty for the position.

There was considerable discussion

before the question went to a roll call, with Dr. Slaughter voicing the opinion that inasmuch as Mr. Haggerty was a man with six years of military training and for a number of years at the head of the O.M.I. Cadets, he should be elected to the place. She also mentioned the fact that he has a splendid world war record.

The motion then went to a roll call vote, with Francis J. O'Brien receiving six votes and Mr. Haggerty, three. Those who favored Mr. Haggerty were Mr. Lambert, Mrs. Pearson and Dr. Slaughter.

Adjourned at 8:45 o'clock.

Increases the action of the intestines

Hundreds of men and women have already found freedom from laxatives by eating Fleischmann's fresh yeast.

Doctors are now agreed that proper elimination of waste matter should be brought about by food. One doctor comes right out and states plainly that the indiscriminate use of cathartics is one of the causes of constipation.

Physicians all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast because it is a fresh food, rich in those elements which keep the intestines healthy. In one series of tested cases, normal functions were restored in from 3 days to 5 weeks.

Try it out for yourself. Begin today by adding 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your everyday diet. Keep it up and see how normally and regularly your intestines act. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 11.—Hunters killed 1480 moose and 255 deer in this province during 1921, according to official reports presented to the legislature. Caribou, the reports say, are plentiful as ever in the northern parts of Cape Breton island. There has been a falling off, however, in the number of foxes kept by "farmers" for breeding purposes.

GRADUATING EXERCISES AT TEXTILE SCHOOL

The graduating exercises of the evening Textile school will be held tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock in Southwick hall. The speaker will be Hon. George B. Chamberlain, state senator of Springfield and a member of the committee on education of the legislature. There will be seventy-five certificates granted and following the usual custom these will be delivered to the graduates by the mayor.

The buildings will be open for inspection during the evening and a cordial invitation is extended to the public in general and no tickets are necessary. Hibbard's orchestra will furnish music at intervals during the evening.

Principal Charles H. Eames is very proud of the fact that 550 boys have taken the evening courses. These are chiefly from Lowell, although quite a number comes from the surrounding towns and cities. Mr. Eames thinks that it is proof of the right spirit of persistence when a boy keeps up attendance at these evening classes for four or five years in order to obtain a certificate. That is the kind of work, he says, that will ultimately count for success.

PREVENTS BREAK

LONDON, April 11.—The correspondent of the London Times at Genoa, writing of the disagreement between Chitchever and Barthou over disarmament, says that Premier Lloyd George, in answering the Russian soviet delegate, insisted that the conference would be a failure unless it led ultimately to disarmament, but urged that before disarmament came there must be peace and a peace basis at Genoa.

Mr. Lloyd George begged Chitchever to confine himself to the agenda and not press for an extension of the Genoa conference.

"If you super-add to our proposals," he declared, "you will wreck the conference."

Turning to the delegates, the British prime minister exclaimed:

"If Mr. Chitchever removes the load-line of our conference ship he will sink it, and I would point out that he might be among the drowned. We may have a rough time ahead, and we don't want to be overloaded."

The matters on the agenda, continued Mr. Lloyd George, were enormously important, and it would be criminal to destroy the hope of millions of people by endeavoring to solve four problems than could possibly be managed.

"Let Mr. Chitchever finish this voyage," he advised, "and go home with all he can carry; then we will welcome him on another voyage when we know what sort of a passenger he is."

President Facta seconded Mr. Lloyd George's appeal not to wreck the conference; he considered it would be wise not to carry the discussion further. Before these words could be translated, Mr. Barthou protested—"I want to know yes or no. Have all the delegations here accepted the Cannes resolution? If not, we cannot continue the discussion. If they have, well and good."

The correspondent adds: "Thus the incident closed, though not very satisfactorily. Signor Facta reiterated that he thought the discussion should end, and Mr. Barthou made a discontented sign of assent."

The incident occurred, according to the correspondent, when the soviet foreign minister, following Facta, Lloyd George, Barthou, Wirth and the spokesmen of Japan and Belgium, welcomed Mr. Lloyd George's assurance that the members of the conference were met on absolutely equal terms, announced the Bolshevik acceptance of the Cannes resolution and added that in some respects "the Russian government" would desire to go beyond the Cannes resolution. Mr. Chitchever said that Russia would support any proposals to avoid a new war, or designed to lighten the burden of armaments, but must demand an indispensable guarantee against attacks from the outside, and also demand financial reciprocity.

The sense of Mr. Chitchever's speech was so clear and so disquieting that when he sat down Mr. Barthou immediately took exception to the speech.

"Mr. Chitchever has announced his intention of introducing the question of disarmament, which is not on the agenda," declared Mr. Barthou, "and I say simply, but clearly, that when and if Russia wants to examine this question she will be faced not only by the reserve of France, but with her protest and an absolute, final and decisive refusal to discuss it."

Mr. Barthou pointed out that in an earlier speech he was conciliatory, but there were times when he must say

OF A FAMOUS
MALE NURSE

Mr. Geo. B. Jenkins, of 621 Putnam Ave., Cambridge, Mass., who for more than eighteen years a special nurse, attending to men who were sufferers of one or more great ills. Mr. Jenkins has been in attendance upon a number of very prominent men of the country. He has travelled with them and their physicians from coast to coast, and is therefore a man who has had a remarkably wide experience with doctors and medicines. He has for years been acquainted with the reputation of the Winsol line, and says:

"In spite of my broad experience, I had not found remedies that suited my own ills until I became acquainted with the Winsol line. I have for years been a chronic sufferer from Bronchial Catarrh and Torpid Liver. For all my liver ills I had found no relief until I commenced to take Winsol. Catarrhes merely aggravated the trouble, giving but temporary help. Winsol put me in first-class shape in a general way, and I can say that Torpid Liver, Digestive Troubles and all ills I have practically passed away from me, and I believe forever, after a thorough course of treatment with Winsol, the Winsol line."

All ambitious druggists sell Winsol.

"Vacuum Cleaner" Is Cotton Picker

(By N. E. A. Service)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 10.—An electrically operated cotton picker, recently tried out here, threatens to do away with the present method of picking cotton by hand, in use 4000 years. It is expected to cut the producing cost of cotton in two and double the prosperity of cotton-producing states. The device is mounted on a tractor. The tractor not only furnishes the motive power but generates the electric current that operates the picker.

Works by Vacuum
The picking apparatus consists of several rapidly revolving brushes. These gather the cotton from the boll. A vacuum then draws the cotton through a flexible tube and after extracting from the cotton all dust, dirt and moisture, drops it into a receptacle. Two to four picker heads can be carried on a tractor and nine rows of cotton can be picked each trip without injury to the plant or the unripened boll.

Three Times as Fast
This new device, it is claimed, can pick three times as fast as the most expert hand picker. And the cotton is of much higher grade than that picked by hand.

Southern cotton planters heretofore have been limited in their crops to what they could pick with the labor available.

With this device they will be able to plant more cotton, cultivate it better, and pick it three times as fast when ripe without extra help, the inventors say.

The machine already has stood up under exhaustive field tests here.

Daughter of Julia Ward Howe Dead

NEW YORK, April 11.—Mrs. Florence Marion Howe Hall, 77, eldest surviving daughter of the late Samuel Gridley Howe and Julia Ward Howe, is dead at her home in High Bridge, N. J. She was a direct descendant of Samuel Ward, revolutionary governor of Rhode Island. Her father founded the Perkins Institute for the Blind at Boston. From her mother, she inherited her marked literary talent.

$5000 Loss by Fire at Portland

PORTLAND, Me., April 11.—Fire which early today threatened the block of business and office buildings between Middle and Milk streets was confined to the store of the M. F. Bragdon Paint Co., at 47 Exchange street, with a loss estimated at $5000.

Ford Granted Site For Factory in Cork

CORK, April 11.—The city corporation today decided by a vote of 18 to 13 to grant Henry Ford the site of his tractor factory here in Fee Simple.

He was convinced that the Italian delegation would support him, insisting that no one could escape the Cannes resolutions directly or indirectly.

Chitchever listened in silence to the translation of the speech. He rose again and explained that he did not know the conference program officially but only through newspapers. The agenda presumably was provisional; he was only asking for information and was willing to bow before the collective decision of the conference.

He quoted M. Briand at the Washington conference regarding Russia's armament and said: "For us this is a capital question, but we are here in a conciliatory spirit and will therefore do as the conference desires."

Mr. Lloyd George spoke after M. Chitchever. Signor Facta said he considered the Cannes resolution as clear as the two best languages, English and French, could make them, and concluded with a final appeal.

Drastic Order Against Arms Carrying

BELFAST, April 11.—(By the Associated Press)—A drastic order against arms carrying was issued here today. The order reads: "No person will be eligible to have or carry firearms for any purpose whatsoever, unless he is or becomes a member of the crown forces, including the special constabulary, and only so long as he remains a member of these forces." This means the cancellation of all private permits to carry arms.

SUMMER SCHOOL OF HORSEMANSHIP

NORTHFIELD, Vt., April 11.—Plans for a summer school of horsemanship and polo have been submitted to President Plumley of Norwich university by the military department for consideration. It is proposed to enroll only 25 men the first year. They would be taught everything about a horse that a man who rides ought to know.

Supporters of the plan set forth that a number of youths who might not desire to enter a training camp, would care to come to Norwich instead of entering an expensive summer camp, where little instruction in equitation would be received. Relief has been expressed that through association with young officers of the reserve corps, many of the pupils would enroll in a R. O.T.C. on entering college.

ANOTHER STRIKE
IN WOONSOCKET

WOONSOCKET, R. I., April 11.—The Manchester Co.'s cotton mill here was closed this morning by a walkout of 100 weavers, who refused a proposed 10 per cent wage cut and 54 hours' working week.

The management announced that new contracts could be made only by revision of wages, effective May 1. This is the second cotton mill strike in Woonsocket due to proposed cuts, the first at the Woonsocket Falls mill, being settled by a compromise.

U. S. TO CHECK SOARING EASTER LILY PRICES

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Uncle Sam is no longer dependent upon Bermuda and Japan for the great white, bell-mouthed lilies that form the center of home and church decorations at Easter time.

Horticultural experts of the department of agriculture are now producing both bulbs and flowering plants of the Easter lily from seed.

Entirely New Line

Surplus seed and bulblets produced in lily propagation work at the government's Arlington experimental farm have been distributed to florists and private horticulturists. From these are expected to grow an entirely new line of lily culture which ultimately will supply the American market fully without dependence on imported bulbs.

To date, however, the volume of bulbs and plants produced from seed is not enough of a factor to increase visibly the supply or reduce prices. In another year, however, American propagated lilies should be a controlling factor in stabilizing the prices of lilies at Easter time.

Just now, with increasing demand at the approach of Easter, prices are beginning to climb. Florists explain this by saying there is a shortage of imported bulbs due to floods in Japan. Government horticulturists here say they have no advice as to floods in Japan affecting the lily bulb supply.

On the contrary, they point to the statistics covering importations and show that the value of flower bulbs of all sorts imported so far this year is about one-third, or more than $1,000,000 more than for the same period a year ago.

Not Difficult

Propagation of Easter lilies from seed is not a difficult job, Uncle Sam's

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur added, will turn away, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store, all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Adv.

In fact, there is no good reason why the Easter lily, in the greater part of the United States, cannot be made a home flower, available to everybody at Easter time, instead of a high-priced, artificially forced hot-house bloom.

PATTANGALL CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR OF MAINE

AUGUSTA, Me., April 11.—Announcement was made here last night of the candidacy of William R. Pattangall of this city for governor and Oakley C. Curtis of Portland for United States senator in the democratic primaries in June. The papers of the candidates have been placed in circulation. The candidacies of Bertrand G. McIntire of Norway for congress in the second district, Leon O. Tebbets of Waterville in the third district and James M. Sewall of Oldtown in the 4th dist. and Frank R. Madden of Skowhegan were also announced last night. The candidate for the democratic nomination for congress in the first district will be decided today.

BUSY PROGRAM FOR GIRLS' CITY CLUB

With the passing of the Lenten season and the advent of the pleasant spring weather, numerous festivities are being arranged by the busy program committee of the Girls' City Club.

The club dances will resume Saturday evening, April 15. During the week members will secure the customary invitations for their friends.

On the holiday, April 19, there will be a truck ride for members. The party will leave the club at 8 a. m., visit Bunker Hill and the Charlestown navy yard, going through a battleship if one is in that day. In the afternoon they will attend the parade and celebration at Lexington and Concord, visiting places of interest.

REPUBLICAN HAGGLING
The country is getting sick of the bootless hagglings at Washington. There is a feeling of impatience all over this country on account of the delays of the republican party in passing constructive legislation. It seems that the republican majority finds it very difficult to reach a definite decision on any public question. This has been clearly shown by the hagglings over the bonus bill, which pleases nobody and is framed to save the face of the republican leaders who had promised to pass a bonus measure that would compensate the service men for their sacrifices overseas.

The manufacturers of the country are held in a state of suspense on account of the delays upon the tariff measure. At first the republicans passed an emergency law that was allowed to go through, although it was generally admitted to have very grave defects. When the life of that measure had expired, the leaders of Washington were not ready to pass a general tariff bill. Therefore, they extended the life of the emergency measure, which is still in force, although admittedly injuring business in several important respects. There is no telling when the general tariff bill will be completed and it may go over till the fall and be carried into the winter, thus prolonging the business depression and widespread unemployment.

On the matter of cutting down the navy, there is another conflict with nobody ready to decide just what is the proper course to pursue. Congress is also hagglings over this question as it did over the bonus; and President Harding has not the ability to offer any light on the general subject.

The ships of the merchant marine are still idle, and a committee of congress is soon to start hearings upon a measure proposing a subsidy and the transfer of the ships to private ownership. It is very clear that under the present policy the United States flag would soon disappear from the seas, so far as our merchant marine is concerned.

This feeling of disappointment over the work of the administration at Washington, has reached the various states and perhaps none feels it to a greater extent than Massachusetts. That explains why there is such opposition to Senator Lodge, who, in a speech recently, tried to shift the blame to the democrats. On the contrary, the democrats have aided the administration in passing whatever reconstruction measures have been placed on the statute books. Our senior senator may not appreciate how deeply the people of this state resent his support of Senator Newberry and the condemnation of that official's corrupt election. This issue will doubtless be brought to the front in the campaign against the senator which promises to be one of the most lively in the history of the state. The senator himself evidently realizes this and he is losing no opportunity to strengthen his political fences.

As manipulator and general director of the republican machine, Senator Lodge is largely responsible for the disappointing record of the republican party in congress since its return to power; and in his campaign next fall he will have much to explain and little in the line of tangible results to show in the party record. Beyond doubt the senator is likely to have the hottest campaign in his political career and there are many republicans in this state who will join forces that will oppose his reelection.

MR. COLLINS' WARNING
In spite of the cutting of railroads and kidnapping the engineer of a train to prevent him from speaking on Sunday, Michael Collins addressed a large concourse of people at Wexford and issued a solemn warning that unless the opponents of the treaty change their tactics very soon, nothing short of a miracle can avert civil war.

The truth of that statement must be plain to everybody who has watched the course of events during the past few weeks or since Mr. de Valera, speaking at Killarney, made the threat that in case the treaty were adopted, the republican forces might have to march over the dead bodies of their brothers and wade through Irish blood.

At that time the statement was not taken seriously, but the talk of an military intervention, as it then, has led the people to conclude that Mr. de Valera means to use force against the Free State government if established.

That is why Mr. Collins issues the warning that persistence in such a policy will bring on the horrors of civil war with the result that England will return; and if that should happen, who could again expect the shackles on Ireland and the world would say the war was justified.

The one great danger is just as Mr. Collins stated it on Sunday. If civil war breaks out, England will go back to restore her paramount and Ulster will be converted into a British stronghold that would be a disaster to Ireland. That would not only the Irish Free State and the dream of a republic or a united Ireland.

In the past the policy of the Irish leaders was to take all they could get in the line of concessions from England and keep on fighting for more; but none of them at any time, not even Grattan—not any measure of freedom at all approaching that provided for under the Irish treaty.

The whole issue is one for the Irish people themselves to settle but turbulence is becoming so frequent that it is doubtful if a free election is possible, although Mr. de Valera agreed with the representatives of the provisional government that the elections would not be interfered with. Nevertheless, whenever Mr. Collins arranges for a public meeting, if it is not stopped outright, measures are taken to prevent his attendance and to keep the people from hearing him.

It is hoped that the councils of peace will prevail and that the people may be allowed to settle the issue without interference at the polls. They assume a very grave responsibility who would do anything to plunge Ireland into civil strife and once more dash the cup of freedom from her lips.

There is one complaint in which the republicans seem to be justified and that is that it had been planned to use the voting list of 1918, instead of framing a new one. Some fears were expressed that under present conditions it would be impossible to secure a new register of voters that would be at all accurate or reliable. The old list would bar many of the young men who were engaged in the fighting during the two years prior to the truce. If possible, this grievance should be remedied.

THE LOWELL SUN TUESDAY APRIL 11 1922

SEEN AND HEARD

When a man is full of himself there isn't room for much else.
It costs $37,000 a day to run congress, but isn't worth it.

Thought for Today
A political victory is a fine thing, the recovery of your work, or the return of your absent friend, or some other favorable event, raises your spirit. Do not believe it. Nothing can bring you satisfaction but a hearty and up-to-date peace but the triumph of principles.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

A Word a Day
Today's word is vegetable. It is pronounced ek-aj-ee-els, with accent on the third syllable. It means—an explanation, an exposition, an analysis, especially a critical examination of a region from the Bible. It comes from the Greek exagogein, to explain. Companion word—vegetation. It is used like this: "Most clergymen think a sermon should contain a carefully prepared exegesis of the text."

His Method
A certain wealthy and able lawyer, whose beginnings were small, is employed by the government in important cases. It was while he was in Chicago in connection with one of these that he was met by a certain wealthy man, who was a young lawyer who recognized him. The younger man was talking about college days, and their interests seemed to be bound with fraternal and football scores than with the case at hand. Finally one turned and asked rather patronizingly: "By the way, Mr. what was your school?" "Haven't any," replied the big man. "I practice law by ear."—Detroit Free Press.

Fixing the Blame
"Here, there," yelled Constable Sam T. Black, pointing his redoubtable thumb of Putnam. "You knocked that there innocent bystander down while he was perambulating along his business, ran over him, carted up, and passed him off as it were, of him again. What in time do you mean by such doing?" "Why—doggone it!" cried the offending motorist, who knew and knew the name of this car, and knew too, that this is the first time I've ever driven this or any other, and yet, damn him, he went and got right in the way!"—Kansas City Star.

Bill Can't Rave
My dress was awfully pretty, and when I got it home I put it on, and did my hair up on my head, the way Bill likes it, and I went in the kitchen where Bill was reading, and asked him if he didn't think the dress was pretty, and Bill looked at it and said "yes," and went on reading. So I went back in the bedroom and cried. Bill can't understand why, when I ask if my dress isn't becoming, or if he doesn't like it, he can't say "yes," that I always cry. I don't exactly understand it myself, but I know I can't help it. The tears just come, hot and fast, and I get a lump in my throat, and have to run and hide. Of course, Bill always acts bewildered then, and says, "what the deuce is the matter?" and he makes a fuss, and I tell him, and maybe sit on his knees a couple of minutes and we make it up and everything is all right. You'd think I'd be used to this by now, and know that he can't make speeches, and that a simple "yes" from him is more than a lot of gushing from some one else. Bill just can't rave. Not to me, anyway. Either there's something in me prevents it, or something in him that makes it hard, but he never says much, and never will, and I am always disappointed.

The Jurymen to Her Spouse
(Suggested by the tale of seven women and five men last night, the way nights in a jury-room at St. Paul, Minn.)
If you're waking call the early, call Fox I'm serving on a jury, and the fateful day is here!
Pack my things in my suit case, it's that or out on my feet, just as I see.
For we may be out till morning and I want to look my best.

You must wait to make the coffee, till the kettle's on the boil,
Send out all the baby's bottles, and give Sue her castor oil;
No more baby wears his rubbers, get five pounds five pounds of good prunes,
And give both the kids a spanking if they stay out afternoons.

Don't forget the man with moonshine will be round most any night,
Tell him that some one will fix him if it doesn't taste just right;
If I stay out here all day see you wind in the kitchen clock,
But I know that he's not guilty that poor fellow in the dock.

Sell the soap greens to the podder, scrub up all the cellar floor,
Don't forget the baby's bottles (Oh, I told you that before!)
If you read it in the papers that the jury disagree,
I'm not going to convict him, you can take it straight from me.

—C. R. W. in the Boston Herald.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

If the textile and leather workers' strikes continue for some weeks longer, the fishing season in Lowell and vicinity may open sooner than in previous years, for with so many men out of work it is probable that a great number of them will want to spend their time trying their luck with the rod and line on some of our favorite streams. I understand that some of the idle men of Lowell are already preparing their tackle and before the end of the month some good catches may be made.

The jump of 15 per cent in the cost of living since January 1 is not in harmony with the general process of deflation and the movement back to normalcy. It is an indication that the old price level will never be reached.

Premier Lloyd George is regarded by the world as the Moses to lead the millions out of the dismal swamp of industrial paralysis.

The new tariff law is likely to advance the price of many of the necessities of life. Sugar in one of the commodities that will take a jump.

It is time the repair gangs got busy on our streets. Some of them have so many holes and potholes as to be absolutely dangerous to motor vehicles.

To promote safety and convenience, learn to walk within the traffic lines and don't park any vehicle in front of a fire hydrant.

Evidently the school board will not brook dictation from any source if there is another path open.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem
INCURABLE
The pessimist sneers at the optimist in a greatly superior way, And the pessimist writes his gloomy book and his gloomier problem play, And it is an awful bourgeois thing to doubt that his stuff is great, For doesn't it prove that man's a pawn in the grip of an evil fate? And isn't that Art with a capital A?—though all of the facts in sight Have mostly proved the pessimist wrong and the optimist mainly right!

For the pessimist monk swung by his tail from a cainozoole tree, "We are only monkeys at best," he said, "and monkeys we'll always be; And monkeys swing by their tails in trees and they are but built to walk And all this talk of a 'better race' is nothing at all but talk." But the optimist monkey said, "I'll try!" and he dropped from his favorite limb— And we belong to the human race because of some monks like him!

When the lighthouse gleams on the roughest rocks or the turbulent stream is spanned, When the desert turns from an arid waste to a smiling and fruitful land, When knowledge broadens and freedom grows—you'll find that a stubborn crew Of wholly "incurable optimists" are making these fancies true; Oh the pessimist groans and the pessimist sneers, while the optimist up And acts, For if you only have faith enough you can do what you will with facts! (Copyright, 1922, The Lowell Sun.)

Is smoking permitted in the one-man cars when windows are opened? That is a question that a great many men of this city would like the official of the Eastern Massachusetts Street railway to answer. Some time ago the board of health issued a new rule forbidding smoking on the new type of cars, but there is nothing included in the rule to indicate whether or not this is in effect only during the seasons that the cars are closed. Heretofore in the old type of semi-convent cars, smoking was permitted during the summer months, the cross rear seats when the windows of the cars were opened and the question now is whether that rule also applies to the one-man cars when the windows are open.

A resident of Pawtucketville has complained to the Man About Town that a number of boys in his district take pleasure in abusing his dog. Of course this man does not expect that the writer of this column is going to put a stop to the mischievous acts of these young rowdies, but he wishes through this column to give them a fair warning that if they do not behave he is going to bring one or more of them into court on charges of cruelty to animals. Agent Richardson, I am told, takes up such cases and brings the youngsters into court.

Where is Rosemont terrace? I doubt if many of our city officials could tell without looking it up in the directory. But the people who reside on Rosemont terrace are complaining that they are neglected by certain city departments from which they should receive attention.

If there is a district in the city that needs improvement, it is certainly the Rosemont terrace in Pawtucketville. This is the large tract of land extending along the Merrimack river to Beaver brook and which is bounded by Conduit and Riverside streets. This land was developed a few years ago by a land company and at that time a small wooden bridge was erected across Beaver brook, giving the residents of the district easy access to West Centralville. Hundreds of house lots were sold to residents of Lowell, most of whom are employed in the cotton mills, and for some time there was a building boom in the territory with the result that numerous comfortable little homes were erected.

The city extended its sewers through the district, water and gas mains were laid so as to give service. The Electric company has started stretching its wires across the district, but the city has never done a thing in the line of improving the streets.

Rosemont is located at a point much lower than Beaver brook and as a result in the early spring season, the water from the thawing of the snow and ice in the higher district flows down in torrents to the centre of the terrace and inasmuch as there is no draining system, the district is a veritable mud hole from early spring until mid-summer and nothing is being done by the street department to relieve conditions.

Of course the city has a reason for not spending any money in the thoroughfare and that is that the streets in the locality are not accepted, but it seems to me that an exception should be made in this case and that a drainage system should be installed there in the interest of public health.

The residents of the district own their little homes, pay taxes as do all other property owners of the city and, therefore, should be entitled to some consideration. At this time of the year when the streets and sidewalks of the city are dry and clean, the roads in Rosemont terrace are almost year when the streets and sidewalks in any part of the district, not even glider walks, and there is mud, ankle deep, so that in order to enter or leave the district one is forced to wear rubbers and in some instances rubber boots are necessary.

One of the residents of the district informed me the other day that he wears rubbers from his home to Riverside street and then leaves them at the home of a friend until his return from the city. There is great agitation in the district, and it would be no surprise if in a short time residents of the neighborhood moved on city hall and forced the city fathers to give them some attention.

They would like a surface drainage system of some kind and they want the bridge across Beaver brook rebuilt so as to give them easy access to the Lawrence avenue car line, and perhaps also a few lights and sidewalks. The district is growing rapidly and before many years it is said there will not be a vacant lot in the district.

SERMON AND MUSICAL PROGRAM

In the second service of the preaching mission series Rev. Thomas F. Laite last night spoke on "Divine Compassion" in the First Presbyterian church. Rev. J. P. Spool, pastor of the Westminster United Presbyterian church, presided. An excellent musical program preceded the sermon.

The sermon was one of the most forceful and interesting of the series and brought the topic home to the listeners in a clear manner. After the sermon a consecration service was held and several came forward and renewed the allegiance to Christ. It was announced that the mission services will continue through Thursday night, Rev. Joseph D. Kennedy, pastor of the First Presbyterian church will be the speaker tonight.

The Young Emeralds would like to challenge the Morey Juniors of the Young Nationals. For games call 6262-R and ask for Manager Gauthier.

Pitcher Carl Mays Is Storm-Centre of American League

Carl Mays continues to be the storm center of the American league. His last escapade involves the throwing of the ball over the grandstand in an exhibition game in the south.

He was later sold to the New York club. President Johnson then suspended him. The New York club took the case to court and got a permanent injunction restraining President Johnson from interfering with the pitching of Mays for the New York club.

It was a long drawn out court affair that split the American league into factions. Five clubs remained loyal to President Johnson. This prevented New York, Chicago and Boston from ousting him from the presidency, as was their intent. Mays later was unfortunate enough to kill Ray Chapman of the Cleveland club with a pitched ball. It was alleged, by the players, that Mays was in the habit of throwing the "bean ball." At one time it looked as if all the American league clubs would go on strike over the incident.

Those are just a few of the high spots in the career of Mays, who has played the central figure.

The Mays case is turning out to be a complete vindication for the attitude taken by President Johnson, who ruled Mays should play with Boston or stand suspended when he jumped that team.

The New York club, which went the limit in Mays' behalf, is feeling the pangs of retribution.

With the ball in basketball games this week, players will enjoy a rest after a strenuous few months. The Sacred Heart and St. Anne's teams, which have played one game of their series, will do light work this week to be on edge for their second game on next Monday night.

Negotiations are still underway to bring the Y.M.C.A. and C.Y.M.L. teams together to play off the last game between two rivals which ended in a dispute. It is expected that the managers will get down to business and come to terms, so that the teams will finish out their long standing argument some time next week.

The Chelmsford Legion team which made a fine showing in its local debut a week ago is on edge for the next engagement with the Y.M.C.A.

The next boxing bout here will come a week from tonight when Pugy Morton, the sensational Californian, and manager, E. F. Twombly, says all will be accommodated in due time.

The arrival of warm weather yesterday caused many to think of baseball and a number of youngsters got busy on the neighborhood sandlot and engaged in a game of scrub.

The major leagues will get underway tomorrow, the Boston Red Sox opening at home, with the Boston Braves playing in the Philadelphia bandbox.

On the eve of the long anticipated "play ball" Boston and New England fans look forward to a good season. The Braves, who put up a great battle last season, being in the running for the pennant, up until the last few weeks of the season, look much brighter this year. The acquisition of Kopf and Marquard, with the possible return to form of Rudolph and Tyler, and the development of a couple of young pitchers, it is believed, will add just the punch needed to put the team up with the leaders.

The Red Sox, while weak in the box, seem to have added much hitting strength. The team battled well in the exhibition games, and if it continues to give the old apple with consistency, it may be able to win many games, despite the mediocre staff.

The New York Yankees have an many temperamental stars that Miller Huggins must think he is managing a theatrical troupe.

Judge Landis now enjoys the hand-shaking championship of the south. He met all comers with a mean grip.

Ball players now know the meaning of a mental hazard as applied to golf. Ted Young of Detroit, despite a strong arm, is unable to control his throws and is doomed for the minors.

The suggestion that a petition be presented to the league asking for the reinstatement of Babe Ruth does not meet with the approval of the American league pitchers.

If Carl Mays gets away with the present stand that he has taken relative to a fine imposed on him by Manager Huggins, the baseball world might as well turn in his uniform.

Harry Hellmann says he intends to take his golf. He should play a much improved game by the time Judge Landis welcomes him back to the fold.

One nice thing for the experts who have picked New York to again win in the American league is that they will have a lot of alibis to offer if the Yankees blow.

Babe Ruth says next to baseball he likes his golf. He should play a much improved game by the time Judge Landis welcomes him back to the fold.

After Frank Wood

If the captain of the Highland Eagles track team will meet Capt. Duffy of the All-Stars, at the corner of Main and John streets, Friday night at 7:15 p.m. regarding a dual meet will be taken over.

BROOKLYN LEADER LIKES RED SOX HOME HIS PITCHING STAFF FOR OPENING

Pitching won a pennant for Brooklyn in 1920. Manager Robinson believes his pitching for the coming campaign will make him a contender.

The burden of the Brooklyn pitching will be carried by Grimes, Cadore, Smith, Reuther, Mitchell and Mamau. Mamau, who was sick most of the 1921 season, is back full of vim and nerve. He has a double set of store teeth now and is no longer troubled with a bad stomach.

Of the nine rookie pitchers, all are more or less promising. Robble likes them big and heavy and the very hunters got them.

The best of the lot appears to be "Daisy" Vance, right-hander from New Orleans.

Vance has been up once or twice before and looks to have arrived. He starts them high in the air like Phil Duglass and they come over with lots of smoke. Vance won 21 games in the Southern last season.

Ray Gardiner, who was brought down from Buffalo last fall, and pitched a few good games, also has a look in. Ray is short and stocky but makes up for his lack of size by using the old bean.

HIGHLY TOUTED RECRUIT FAILS TO DELIVER

Glenn Killinger, highly touted college recruit, has failed to make the big league grade. He has been sent to Jersey City in the international league.

Killinger at the present time is far removed from major league class in the opinion of Manager Huggins.

The Penn State star, however, must be carried by the New York club for one year. When he signs with the Yankees a number of major league clubs were clamoring for his services.

Hugo Bezdek, who handled his affairs with the major league clubs, naturally arranged a contract that protected the youngster.

Killinger received a fancy sum for signing. In addition his contract is of such a nature that he is certain of one year's retention by the New York club.

The greatest weakness of Killinger is at the bat. It doesn't seem as if he would ever be able to hit major league pitching.

Killinger came to the Yankees highly touted. Coach Bezdek said he was ready for the majors. It seems as if Bezdek was either wrong or his great interest in the youngster.

On the other hand, Hinky Haines, who was also a star at Penn State, but who came to the Yankees, has been heralded, has an excellent chance to make good.

This morning Mr. Twombly came into the Sun office and left a check for $100, payable to the writer, with the understanding that it could be covered with a similar check within one week, or the match is off.

Mr. Twombly also stated that Johnson is planning a very busy campaign starting tonight with a bout in Woburn. He plans to wrestle in this vicinity for a few months, then he will make a tour. He has received many fine offers, which he will accept in due time. He is in fine condition and feels confident of setting up a good record on the road.

The local wrestlers are now having their innings with the purses, at least, and it is expected that soon they will have a lot of a chance to try out with some of the Twilight league teams.

Thanking you in advance, I am, A FAN.

LEONARD TO DEFEND HIS TITLE JULY 4

NEW YORK, April 11.—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight boxing champion, will defend his title at Michigan City, Ind., on July 4. Billy Gibson, his opponent, will be either Johnny Dundee, Charles White or Rocky Kansas.

Gibson declared that he had signed articles for such a bout with Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter, who will build a special arena, capable of seating 25,000 persons, for the event.

Big League Season Gets Underway Tomorrow—Sox to Play Athletics

Cancellation of Reds-Braves Trade Said to Be Under Consideration

BOSTON, April 11.—The Boston Red Sox arrived home this morning from their spring training trip. All is in readiness for the opening of the season here tomorrow when the Red Sox will meet the Philadelphia Athletics in the opening contest. It is expected that Gov. Cox will be present to toss out the first ball and Mayor Curley, with members of the city council, will be in attendance.

The Braves are resting up today at Philadelphia prior to the opening of their season tomorrow with the Athletics. The Baltimore Orioles of the international league yesterday tacked a defeat onto the Braves in a slugging match, but the score of 14 to 13.

To start the season tomorrow, it is expected that Manager Mitchell will pick Deschager to face the Phillies.

May Cancel Reds-Braves Trade

BOSTON, April 11.—Cancellation of the trade by which Cincinnati sent to the Braves Pitcher Rube Marquard and Shortstop Larry Kopf in exchange for pitcher John Scott is said to be under consideration in the owner's hands and Manager Moran of the Reds.

The fact that Scott's pitching arm has been hurt all spring has caused the Reds to question whether the Braves' management knew his condition when the trade was made. Manager Mitchell of the Boston team said there was no reason to doubt Scott's condition at the time. Cincinnati regretted the deal an hour after it was made, he said.

The Reds' management is reported to be gathering facts for submission to Commissioner Landis. Scott has been questioned. He is reported to have said that his arm troubled him slightly in one game toward the close of last season and that he had to abandon a barnstorming trip because of it. He has no reason to believe that he is injured, he said.

He would be disturbed if he were to have told the Cincinnati officials.

There would be no reason to believe that he is injured, he said. Boston team, the Braves for this season being considered well rounded out with the addition of the effective southpaw, Marquard, and the feuding strength represented by Kopf at shortstop.

Princeton Plays Giants

NEW YORK, April 11.—Princeton university baseball team came to the Polo grounds today to play the New York Giants in the last game of the pre-season activities of the big league champions. Yesterday's game between the Giants and Fordham was a fast one. The professionals scored almost at will, the final count being 23 to 2 in their favor.

The Brooklyn team's first and second teams were to play a game at Ebbets field to perfect signals and try out new combinations. The Yankees, who were their way to Washington, where tomorrow they will open their season's campaign.

May Be Out For Season

CINCINNATI, April 11.—An X-ray examination of the right shoulder of Pitcher John Scott shows that the capsular ligament and the shoulder knuckles are seriously displaced. Dr. H. H. Hines, the club physician, submitted his report to August Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati Nationals, and the directors of the club today.

The physicians said that in time the displacement would yield to treatment, but that Scott would not be able to pitch for several weeks and perhaps not for the entire season. Scott's arm went lame last autumn when still with the Boston team. It was claimed by the Red management. What action the Cincinnati club will take in view of the physician's report will be determined at a meeting to be held in a day or so.

BAY STATE CHECKER CLUB

The club's annual meet of the Bay State Checker club will be held at Boston on April 19 at 957 Washington street. The tournament will be under the auspices of the Wells Memorial Chess and Club. The first round is scheduled to begin at 10 a. m. and the final round at 7 p. m. The minor tournament will be open to only 18 men of Class B strength. The popular free-for-all team match between Boston and Massachusetts players will be held as usual.

MATHEWS PLAN MANY ACTIVITIES

Delegates to the annual meeting of the Catholic Total Abstinence union of the Boston Archdiocese were elected at last Sunday's meeting of the Mathew Temperance Institute. Joseph Geary, Thomas M. Carv, Walter M. Quinn and Arthur M. Flaherty were chosen to represent the society, with John J. Conlon, James J. Campbell, Frank Boyle and James Duffy as alternates.

The report of the baseball committee was accepted, and the Mathews are to be represented on a diamond this year by a strong outfit.

The committee in charge of the Black and White ball on next Monday evening, the main event of the Mathews' social season, is now engaged in selecting a number of excellent prizes to be offered for the best costumes worn by the young ladies and young men who participate in the grand march. Elaborate decorations are also planned, and arrangements have already been made with the decorator.

JACK DEMPSEY SAILS FOR EUROPE

NEW YORK, April 11.—Jack Dempsey, with notable persons of various walks of life as fellow voyagers, was escorted by the Aquitania sailing today for England.

The champion, in his first venture from his native shores, was accompanied by his manager, Jack Kearns, his trainer, Teddy Hayes, and his friend, Joe Benjamin. California lightweight boxer, in addition to many waxes wishing him a pleasant trip, Dempsey carried aboard a sheet of pamphlets, "How to prevent seasickness."

FATHER AND SON TO RUN IN MARATHON

BOSTON, April 11.—Father and son will run against each other in the American Marathon race here April 19. This became known when the names of George McAlpine and Edgert McAlpine of Boston, N. H., were added to the list of 44 race entries.

The entries today of Peter Trivoulis, Willie Kyronen and Otto Lankola, all of the Allimore A. C. of New York, made five of the first eight finishers in last year's race to run this year. Buck Mellor of Chicago and Carl Jander of the Boston Athletic association entered last week.

"SAILOR" FRIEDMAN HELD FOR MURDER

CHICAGO, April 11.—"Sailor" Friedman, lightweight pugilist, sought in connection with a shooting affair Sunday in which one man was killed and four were injured, surrendered to the police last night. He admitted he was in the saloon in which the shooting occurred, but denied that he had taken any part in it.

After being questioned by the police, Friedman was booked on a charge of having slain Abraham Rubin, one of the five victims.

According to the police, Friedman and three companions walked into the saloon with drawn pistols and opened fire on a crowd gathered about the bar to avenge an insult said to have been offered Friedman's sister by one of those present. The four then fled in an automobile. Several other alleged participants in the affair also are in custody.

SPORTING NOTES

With the ball in basketball games this week, players will enjoy a rest after a strenuous few months. The Sacred Heart and St. Anne's teams, which have played one game of their series, will do light work this week to be on edge for their second game on next Monday night.

Negotiations are still underway to bring the Y.M.C.A. and C.Y.M.L. teams together to play off the last game between two rivals which ended in a dispute. It is expected that the managers will get down to business and come to terms, so that the teams will finish out their long standing argument some time next week.

The Chelmsford Legion team which made a fine showing in its local debut a week ago is on edge for the next engagement with the Y.M.C.A.

The next boxing bout here will come a week from tonight when Pugy Morton, the sensational Californian, and manager, E. F. Twombly, says all will be accommodated in due time.

The arrival of warm weather yesterday caused many to think of baseball and a number of youngsters got busy on the neighborhood sandlot and engaged in a game of scrub.

The major leagues will get underway tomorrow, the Boston Red Sox opening at home, with the Boston Braves playing in the Philadelphia bandbox.

On the eve of the long anticipated "play ball" Boston and New England fans look forward to a good season. The Braves, who put up a great battle last season, being in the running for the pennant, up until the last few weeks of the season, look much brighter this year. The acquisition of Kopf and Marquard, with the possible return to form of Rudolph and Tyler, and the development of a couple of young pitchers, it is believed, will add just the punch needed to put the team up with the leaders.

The Red Sox, while weak in the box, seem to have added much hitting strength. The team battled well in the exhibition games, and if it continues to give the old apple with consistency, it may be able to win many games, despite the mediocre staff.

The New York Yankees have an many temperamental stars that Miller Huggins must think he is managing a theatrical troupe.

Judge Landis now enjoys the hand-shaking championship of the south. He met all comers with a mean grip.

Ball players now know the meaning of a mental hazard as applied to golf. Ted Young of Detroit, despite a strong arm, is unable to control his throws and is doomed for the minors.

The suggestion that a petition be presented to the league asking for the reinstatement of Babe Ruth does not meet with the approval of the American league pitchers.

If Carl Mays gets away with the present stand that he has taken relative to a fine imposed on him by Manager Huggins, the baseball world might as well turn in his uniform.

Harry Hellmann says he intends to take his golf. He should play a much improved game by the time Judge Landis welcomes him back to the fold.

One nice thing for the experts who have picked New York to again win in the American league is that they will have a lot of alibis to offer if the Yankees blow.

Babe Ruth says next to baseball he likes his golf. He should play a much improved game by the time Judge Landis welcomes him back to the fold.

Billy Evans Says

In baseball batters have their slumps, which usually are impossible of explanation.

In football teams trained to the minute for a most important game immediately fall off in their play after that game.

Champion boxers in a no-decision bout often look like second-raters in some contest in which their opponent is a very ordinary fighter.

It is the same in golf, even the very best of the professionals and amateurs are off their game occasionally. Very often in trying to discover why their game is so badly off they press it and develop new faults.

Going golf stale is a condition that is very often overlooked when some player slumps badly in his game. He is simply over-golfed and doesn't realize it. Often a rest of a week or two at such a time will immediately restore a player to his old-time form.

Golfing, however, gets such a hold on lovers of the game that staleness is the very last thing a golfer thinks about when his game goes bad. He tries to attribute it to any number of other faults. He doesn't want to admit he is golf stale, simply because he gets so much enjoyment out of playing the game.

All of which leads up to the question as to what is the proper number of holes for a golfer to play in a day.

One often hears a player boast how he has played 45 holes. Occasionally you hear someone insist he covered 54 holes. However, it is best to accept such a statement with the belief that possibly the golfer got a bit mixed on his count.

I recall a player of considerable ability who went south last winter for a month and came back boasting that he had played 36 holes every day while on his vacation. He didn't brag about his score, however, admitting that he was playing a poorer game when he left the south than when he started.

The best golfers seem agreed that 18 holes is the ideal day's play. Often a player goes out to his club early in the morning to spend the day. He easily plays 18 holes in the morning. After a bit of luncheon and a slight rest he is usually anxious for 18 more holes of competition.

It would be much better for the golfer's game if instead of engaging in competition he would do a little practicing on the shots in which he is deficient during the morning's play.

It is always possible to overdo a good thing. The golf glutton who does 45 holes a day should draw censure instead of being complimented. It is stupidity rather than an achievement.

In baseball, football and boxing or golf a decided slump

FIRST TIME IN LOWELL

Devotion of Three Hours' Agony at Sacred Heart Church Good Friday

For the first time in the history of this city the devotion of the three hours' agony will be held at the Sacred Heart church on Good Friday evening from 6 to 9 o'clock.

This devotion is intended to commemorate the three hours of suffering on the cross. It is of American origin, having been first practiced in Lima, Peru by Father Mesia, a Jesuit missionary.

Rev. John Doherty, O.M.I., of the Sacred Heart church is in general charge of the service, and he has had printed a beautiful 30 page book containing all the prayers, etc., peculiar to the service. These will be distributed to all who attend the service. Fr. Doherty will be assisted by Rev. P. X. McGinn, O.M.I., and the sanctuary choir, under the direction of John Kelly, with John McMahon and Timothy Finnegan sustaining the solo.

A relic of the true cross will be exposed on the altar during the service, after which it will be venerated.

He is a member of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World. He is a young man who has a reputation as a very successful hustler.

BIG NOVICE RACE AT THE KASINO

The novice race to be held at the Kasino tomorrow night promises to be a good one. Entries are coming in fast. This race is for skaters who have never competed in a race previously, and contestants will not have to wear any special racing suits. To be fair to all, however, the skaters will use only four rollers. So far eight skaters have entered and many more are expected to follow. The race will be run in heats. As none of the skaters who enter will do any training, it will be a real novice race. It would not be surprising, according to the management, if as many as 15 skaters would be ready to start at the gun tomorrow night.

BOOTT MILLS TREASURER REPLIES TO WINSTON D. ADAMS

Mr. Flather Says His Firm Has Been Manufacturing on a Declining Scale—Cannot Obtain Business Without Loss. Cotton Manufacturers' Association Treasurer Says Economic Law Involves Losses as Well as Profits.

Treasurer F. A. Flather of the Boott mills of this city has written to Winston D. Adams, secretary of the American Cotton Manufacturers' association, regarding an interview published in newspapers of March 28, in which he was quoted to the effect that "economic law proves northern pay higher than southern."

Mr. Flather's letter is as follows: "Four letters of March 21 are received, but I have not seen a copy of the newspaper containing an alleged interview with me. It will not be possible for me to comment upon it."

"I do not know whether the southern mills maintain villages, and I am not aware that the economic law proves northern pay higher. In times of dull business, I presume the working of economic laws does not determine whether a mill can make goods at a price which will not a profit."

"I do not know whether the southern mills have taken the orders or not. I have heard that a few southern mills are running two shifts of help, and that a few southern mills are not running much, and that most of the southern mills are well engaged. It is very interesting to hear that the southern mills have taken business at a loss. This, also, is something about which I have had no information."

"As I never write or talk for publication, the responsibility for anything appearing in print in upon those who used my name, or the name of my mill, in their columns."

"We have not reduced wages in my mill for 15 months, when the reduction was 22 1/2 per cent. We do not know when, if, or how much reduction may be made. We have been manufacturing on a declining scale and have passed below 50 per cent production already. We do not seem to be able to obtain business, without loss, sufficient to keep us going at the present rate of production much longer."

"I do not like to discuss comparisons which call for use of the words 'northern' and 'southern,' and hope we may some time find ourselves on some basis where we may talk of the mills of the United States and see what can be done to help all of their employees, customers and stockholders."

Winston D. Adams had written to F. A. Flather as follows:

"I have before me a copy of a newspaper containing an alleged interview with you, dated March 28.

"It is stated that you admit that some southern mills maintain villages for their help, etc. I assumed that is not quite a literal quotation because you must be aware that practically all mills in the south maintain villages."

"The thing that I am really interested in, however, is the statement purporting to come from you to the effect that 'economic law proves northern pay higher,' said economic law being merely the fact that the southern mills have made the prices and taken the orders. Again, I cannot believe that you are altogether correctly quoted because the proposition is illogical as shown by the next succeeding statement accredited to you, in which it is stated that northern mills are therefore faced with the dilemma of either closing down and throwing everyone out of work; or, of effecting a wage reduction and continuing to furnish employment to their operatives."

"Simply reverse the situation and apply that same remark to southern mills; I think you will find corroborated by recent financial statements, and just now in particular many southern mills have accepted neither horn of the dilemma but have solved the problem by taking business at a loss. Most northern mills are more fortunately situated than southern mills and can close the gates to their city mills when business can only be had at a loss and let the operatives look for employment elsewhere; but, in the south with no other employment for the people in its mill villages, it is manifestly out of the question to close down and throw everyone in the village out of employment if the mill can afford to bridge over some business at a loss."

"We certainly sympathize with you people in your difficulties and would not for a moment enter into or prolong a discussion of this kind were it not that we have our own people to consider; while so many southern mills are accepting losses in order to furnish part time employment to their people and to keep them even partially satisfied, we cannot permit what we believe to be mistaken impressions of our situation to continue to appear in the press without at least a meager defensive explanation."

"Believing on second thought that you will concede that 'economic law' involves some losses as well as profits in business, and believing that your views were not completely reflected in the interview referred to, I am with warmest personal esteem."

"WINSTON D. ADAMS."

MISS GIBSON HONORED

Miss Loretta Gibson of 14 Smith Avenue, who is soon to become the bride of Dr. Joset of Newton, was honored at a reception given at her home last evening, the affair being attended by many relatives and friends. In the course of the evening the hostess was presented numerous suitable gifts and a varied entertainment program was given. A feature of the evening was a mock marriage in which Miss Mildred Gibson acted the part of the bride, Miss Helen Kirk, the bridegroom, and Mrs. Charles Larock, the clergyman. The wedding march was played by Miss Anna McEvoy. The other part of the program included vocal and instrumental selections by Mrs. Larock, Mrs. Albert Brosseau and others. A buffet luncheon was served. The affair was in charge of Mrs. Frank Evans and Miss Mildred Gibson.

RECAPITULATION MOVEMENT

A colonization meeting under the auspices of the Canadian government was held in C.M.A.C. hall, Pawtucket street, last evening, the affair being attended by about 200 men and women. The speakers were J. N. Jutra, a representative of the Quebec government; J. E. Lafontaine, general agent in this part of the country for the Canadian Pacific railroad; Rev. Fr. Boyer and Rev. Fr. Peirce, missionaries in the Saskatchewan region. The speaker told of the advantages offered French-Canadians in the repatriation movement, particularly in the Province of Quebec, Scotland, New Brunswick and the western part of the dominion.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DIRECTORS MEET

The board of directors of the chamber of commerce met yesterday and in the course of the meeting elected Charles L. Marren to the only existing vacancy on the board, making the board complete as it now stands. Mr. Marren was present at the meeting. Relative to the street survey recently conducted by the chamber in which postcards have been broadcasted in an endeavor to locate the many defects in paving throughout the city streets, a preliminary report is now on hand and will be turned over to the city engineer at once. At today's meeting the directors authorized a more exhaustive survey to be made by automobile in every street in the city.

The routing of street cars through Brookings and French streets, a project recently brought forward by the board of public service, was referred to the street railway affairs committee with instructions to go ahead and do everything possible to co-operate. The scheme was originated by the chamber of commerce between one and two years ago, according to officials of the chamber.

The "Mail Early and Mail Often" movement, started last week by acting Postmaster DeNile, was taken up by the board, and it was decided to assist the postmaster as much as possible.

A recommendation from the zoning committee that the committee be enlarged was received and favorably acted upon. The committee on committees was instructed to increase the committee to not more than 25, this allowing for the taking in of men representative of different sections and organizations. The committee's work is chiefly that of looking over the ground preparatory to recommending the limiting of various sorts of buildings to special zones.

Legal Notices

MORTGAGEE'S SALE

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Louis Piniotakis to Christos G. Anastasiou, dated June 22, 1921, and recorded with the Middlesex County Registry of Deeds, Book 645, Page 66, and for breach of condition therein contained and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at Public Auction on the premises hereinafter described, on Thursday, the 27th day of April, 1922, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, all that singular piece of land described in said mortgage deed, namely:

The land and buildings thereon situated on the northeasterly side of Suffolk street in said Lowell, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the southerly corner of the premises on said street at land formerly of John J. Mather, and now supposed to belong to Daniel Redding, thence northeasterly on said street thirty-five (35) feet to land formerly of John H. and Mary Long, and now owned by Athanasios Kourembis, thence northeasterly on said last mentioned land sixty-one and 1/2 (61 1/2) feet to land formerly of James Cuff and now owned by Alood Mantalab, thence southeasterly, southerly, and northeasterly on said last mentioned land and land of said Daniel Redding to other land of said Daniel Redding, thence southeasterly on said Redding land forty feet, more or less, to said Suffolk street and to the point of beginning.

Said premises will be sold subject to all prior mortgages duly recorded in said Registry of Deeds, and subject also to any and all unpaid taxes and other municipal assessments, if any there be. Two hundred dollars must be paid to the auctioneer, at the time and place of sale, other terms at sale.

CHRISTOS G. ANASTASIOU, Mortgagee.

VISITING MACHINISTS AT MEETING HERE

District Lodge, 55, International Association of Machinists, composed of delegates from the various machinists' unions in Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill, Lynn, Salem, Woburn, Manchester and Laconia, N. H., held its regular meeting in this city Sunday with President Parker P. Murphy at the chair.

The meeting was held in Merrimack hall and was largely attended.

The various delegates reported for their respective districts concerning industrial conditions in their localities and Business Agent George H. McCabe delivered a spirited address on the textile situation, praising the United Textile Workers of America for the manner in which they are conducting the strike in this city, New Hampshire and Rhode Island.

Mr. McCabe's address brought about a general discussion in the course of which the action of the Lawrence operatives in resisting a wage reduction of 20 per cent. was heartily endorsed, but their action in organizing under the banner of the "One Big Union" instead of under that of the U.T.W. was not sanctioned.

MAHONEY MADE B. U. PROFESSOR

Former Lowell Normal School Principal Appointed to School of Education

He Will Also Act as Director for Extension Courses in Education

John J. Mahoney, director of the Americanization section of the state department of education, and former principal of the Lowell Normal school, has been appointed professor of educa-

PROF. JOHN J. MAHONEY

tion for the Boston University school
of education, Dean Arthur H. Wilde
announced yesterday.

Prof. Mahoney will also act as director for extension courses in education, which are to be given throughout the state under the joint auspices of the Boston University school of education and the Harvard graduate school of education. This co-operative plan has been arranged to prevent competition between the two schools in the field of public service. The faculties of both schools of education will assist in this work.

Got Degree at Harvard

Prof. Mahoney is a graduate of Phillips-Andover academy. He received his bachelor of arts degree magna cum laude from Harvard in 1903, after specializing in the field of education and later took graduate work in the same institution. He is president of the In-ternate Council in Immigrant Education and of the American Institute of Instruction.

He has had wide experience as a teacher in the Massachusetts public schools. He was a teacher of English and director of the evening schools in Lawrence until 1912, was assistant superintendent of schools in Cambridge from 1912 to 1915 and was appointed principal of the State Normal school in this city in 1915. He has been in the Americanization department of the state department of education since 1919.

BUILDING HOUSES FOR WORKINGMEN

Sam Dean is building houses in Upham street in the Highlands and he expects to build quite a number of them. Asked relative to his latest enterprise, Mr. Dean said: "I am building houses for workingmen. They cannot afford to pay seven or eight thousand dollars for a house and I am going to try and build them within their means. I expect to be able to sell my houses for $1500. The workingman wants just as good a home as anybody, but he doesn't want to pay an exorbitant price and the price asked for the average new house nowadays is prohibitive, so far as the average workingman is concerned."

"But I want you to understand, Mr.
Reporter, that I am not building cheap
houses. All the modern improvements are included in my plans and I am supervising the job myself. I am paying union wages, 50 cents an hour and I am well satisfied with the quality and quantity of the work that the men are turning out. I do not anticipate that the houses will make me rich, but I am going to build just as many houses as I can sell. The houses will all be of the bungalow type."

Miss Elsie M. Lovell was tendered a shower last night by a number of her friends, who gathered at the home of Miss Helen Osgood, 72 Royal street.
She was the recipient of many pretty
and useful presents.
A letter of absence of six months has been granted Miss Helen V. Trupink, child welfare worker in the health department and Miss Sarah Fox
has been appointed temporary nurse
to serve until her return.
Plans for a dance to be given in a short time by the Nurses' alumni of St. John's hospital were formulated at a meeting of the committee in charge
last night. The committee is as follows: Chairman, Miss Helen Lovell; Misses Margaret Child, Catherine Sutcliffe, Mary Woodhead, Catherine Sutcliffe and Misses Mary Murray and Napoleon Miller.
The New England conference of the Methodist church yesterday assigned Rev. J. P. Kennedy to the pastorate of the Highland M. E. church of this city, to succeed Rev. Oliver W. Hutchinson, who has been retiring on pension. Rev.
Mr. Kennedy came to this city from the People's Temple in Boston. He is middle-aged and is said to be a strong and forceful preacher.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Plans Well Under Way for
Walsh Reception—Patriots
Day Observance

Appropos the reception to United States Senator David I. Walsh next Sunday by Lowell Council, Knights of Columbus, it is stated that plans are rapidly being whittled into shape by Grand Knight John E. Hart for a most enthusiastic meeting. Past Grand Knight Andrew Molloy will be chairman of the reception committee, and the following named gentlemen will be associated with him on that committee: Thomas J. Beane, Dr. Richard J.
McCluskey, Hugh C. McOsker, Charles J. Landers, D.D.G.K., George F. Brig-
gan, P.G.K., Patrick O'Hearn, Edward J. Gallagher, William F. Thornton, P.
G.K., James J. Gallagher, Dr. Hugh Walker, William H. Gallagher, Timothy P. Rohan, Edward Cavley and Thomas J. Fitzgerald.

With characteristic progressiveness,
the Knights are arranging a patriotic night and "smoker" in observance of Patriots day on Tuesday evening, April
18. The speaker of the evening will be
Hon. Charles S. O'Connor of Boston,
an eloquent and scholarly speaker, who will give expression to some of the thoughts which Patriots day suggests.
In addition, there will be a musical program and a collation.

The committee in charge of the musical oddity and dance on May 3 has elected Attorney James J. Broin as floor marshal. Deputy Grand Knight
Roger J. Lang is chairman of the committee and is optimistic over the prospects for a most successful affair. This committee is to meet tonight to further plans.

DEATHS

GILMAN—Warren Gilman, a resident of this city for the past 60 years, died yesterday afternoon at the home of his daughter, 31 Georgia avenue, at the age of 79 years. He leaves three sons, Frederick and Joseph Gilman of Hildreth, N. S., and George Gilman of Springfield and one brother of Chelsea, Vt. Mr. Gilman was a member of the Central Methodist church, Pentucket lodge, A.P. & A.M. and the former resident of this city, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at 103 Highlands, Winthrop Highlands, at the age of 46 years. She leaves her father, Rev. James M. Cragg of this city, also a brother, Charles E. Cragg of Perry, N. H. Miss Cragg was well known in this city, having possessed a wonderful contralto voice and was vocalist in several of our local churches. Her body will be removed to the home of her father, 31 Georgia street, this city, on Thursday morning. Burial will be in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertaker

William H. Saunders.

FOURNIER—Norbert Fournier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Fournier,

HELD ANNUAL MEETING

Herbert W. Horne Elected
Y. M. C. A. President to Succeed Louis A. Olney

Herbert W. Horne last night was elected president of the Y.M.C.A. at the annual meeting of the association. He succeeded Louis A. Olney, who has served in this capacity for the past five years.

With President Horne, the following officers will serve: Vice president,
Donald M. Cameron; clerk, William H.
G. Wright; treasurer, Ivan O. Small;
directors for three years, Donald M.
Cameron, Abel R. Campbell, B. H.
Wiegman, A. F. French, William T.
Sheppard and C. T. Upton; for two years, James F. Flaminio. Mr. Olney
also remains as a member of the board.
The annual report of the treasurer
showed that in 1921 the association operated within its receipts and had a balance at the close of the fiscal year
The report of General Secretary H.
F. Howe was most interesting and clearly showed the great amount of work accomplished during the year.

James H. Boyle, George Boyle, William
Clayton, Walter E. Roker and Gerald Griffin. The burial was in the family
lot in St. Patrick's cemetery. There were many floral and spiritual offer-
rection of Undertakers James J.
O'Donnell & Sons.

McMULLEN—The funeral of the late Daniel P. McMullen, beloved son of Daniel and Bridget (Gribben) McMullen, took place this morning at 9 o'clock from the home of his parents, 28 Willis street, and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The cortege proceeded to St.
Patrick's church where, at 9 o'clock, a funeral high mass was sung by Rev.
Dr. James Supple. The choir, under the direction of Mr. Michael J. Johnson, rendered the Gregorian mass, the solos being sustained by Miss Frances Tighe and Miss Gertrude Quigley. There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes and of spiritual bouquets. The bearers were the following playmates
of deceased, Masters Harold Newton,
Leo Graham, George Laverty, Frank
Mullen, John Driscoll and John Cal-lory. At the grave Rev. Father Supple
read the committal prayers and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery.
In charge of Undertakers James J.
O'Donnell & Sons.

CELESTINE—The funeral of Mrs.
Costanza Celestine took place this morning at 9 o'clock from her late home, 146 South st., and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Peter's church where, at 9:45 o'clock, a funeral high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Father Lin-ahan. The choir sang the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Miss Mary Ryne and James E. Donnelly. Miss Gertrude Quigley presided at the organ. There was a profusion of beautiful floral offerings. The bearers were Messrs. Pietro Travari, Vi-cent Zabala, Anthony Volunio and Frank Lavola. Burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Fr. Linahan.
The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers S. H. McDonough Sons.

DUDLEY—The funeral of Anna Dudley took place this morning at 10 o'clock from the home of her parents,

PURCHASE OF FIRST STREET OVAL LAND

Mayor George H. Brown will confer
tomorrow with Arthur T. Safford, chief engineer of the Locks and Canals and members of the board of park commissioners relative to the acquisition by the city of the First street oval land.
The meeting has been arranged for 10
a. m. and will be held in the mayor's reception room.
At the present time, the Locks and Canals favors acquisition by the seizure process, which means taking at the assessed valuation, plus 25 per cent. The mayor would like to purchase outright and will attempt to obtain a price which would be lower than that involved in the seizure method.

HIGHLAND CLUB MEETING TONIGHT

The annual meeting of the Highland club will be held at the club house in Princeton street tonight, with a dinner and entertainers from Boston. The business meeting will include the election of officers and it is believed that the present officers will be re-elected. Charles N. Woodward, president and Edward F. Woodward,
secretary and treasurer.

WATER RISING IN MERRIMACK RIVER

The Merrimack river has risen nearly a foot in the past 24 hours and still is rising, according to measurements of the Locks and Canals. The sudden rise is due to the unusually warm weather of yesterday that extended well up toward the headwaters of the river and melted snow still held there.
Yesterday the river was running
27,500 cubic feet per second over Pawtucket dam and today it is running nearly 30,000 cubic feet. The flood which at 6 o'clock today was nearly a foot higher than at the same time yesterday.

LOCAL TEXTILE STRIKE

Textile Council Officials Plan

Campaign to Raise Funds for Strikers

Arrangements are being made by officials of the Lowell Textile council for the launching of a campaign for the raising of funds for the local textile strikers and the activities of the organization will not be restricted to this city, for it is being planned to have committees visit other cities and towns in the commonwealth.

President John Hanley of the council stated today that the operatives
who have left their work as a protest against a 20 per cent reduction in wages will not return to their looms
until their fight has been won. "Of
air and considerable money is needed to meet the needs of close to 2000 people, and we purpose to extend our hand to our brethren in other cities who are fortunate enough to have employment."

The plan is to visit numerous cities
and towns and after securing permission from either the mayor or board of selectmen, to collect public scriptions, and accordingly credentials
and Chief of Police MacBrayne.

The mayor's letter follows:
Mayors and Selectmen,
Cities and Towns of this Commonwealth.

Dear Sirs:
I would recommend John Hanley
and his authorized representatives as being thoroughly honest, reliable and 100 per cent. American. They are citizens in Lowell and law abiding. Any courtesy that you may extend to them
you may rest assured will be repaid that you will regret. If you desire any further information, you may call me on the telephone.

The letter from the chief of police
reads as follows:
Chief of Police,
Cities and Towns of this Commonwealth.

This letter will introduce Mr. John
Hanley, president of the Lowell Textile
Council of the United Textile Workers of America or his authorized representatives who are visiting in certain cities in the interest of their members now involved in a strike in Lowell. I am glad to say in reference to Mr. Hanley and his associates that they are men of high character and standing in Lowell. That their strike is being conducted here without trouble or trouble, and it is a pleasure for me to recommend them to you for a long time. We have the utmost confidence in him as a leader in Lowell. Any courtesies extended to this gentleman will be appreciated by me.

SHE HAD PASSED THE CENTURY MARK

Mrs. Clarissa P. Smith, aged 102 years, 8 months and 2 days, one of the oldest persons in this part of the country, died yesterday at her home,
New Boston village, Braintree.

Decayed was born in Potton, Canada,
Jan. 8, 1820, the daughter of Ezra and Sarah Foster, and was one of six children.
She came to Lowell at an early age and in 1853 she was married to John Smith, the ceremony having been performed by Rev. Mr. Thompson, pastor of the First Baptist Congregational church.
Soon after the marriage the couple purchased a farm in the New Boston village, Braintree, where Mrs. Smith lived until the time of her death. Mr. Smith was killed in an accident at Wyman's
Exchange building, this city, 30 years ago. She is survived by a foster daughter, Mrs. Elliott Morgan.

SUGGEST SADDLE HORSE FOR HARRY DOHERTY

Supt. Harry Doherty of the street department will not make the use of his new "Horse" touring car for the present, as the budget and finance audit commission has questioned the bill and will refer it to the mayor.
Chairman Tyler A. Stevens of the commission said today that there are some things concerning the purchase that he would like to have explained.

The bill for the purchase of the car, amounting to $1700, has been presented by the Thomas B. Rafter Co. for payment this month. The budget commission, however, has learned that the Chandler car given in trade, brought only $75, although repair work done on the car in February at the Lowell Motor Mart cost $200, the bill having been paid by March 1.

It is felt that if the car was good enough to warrant the expenditure of $200 for repairs, it certainly should have brought more than $75 in exchange value and these are some of the things attendant to the bill that Chairman Stevens would like explained.

It has been suggested that the automobile be dispensed with entirely and that the city provide the superintendent with a good saddle horse. In several western cities men holding positions similar to that of superintendent of streets go horseback instead of in a car, and there is no gain saying the fact that Lowell's superintendent of streets would be a com-

AUTO TRUCK BURNED

Mr. Grant was destroyed by fire in Westford street near the corner of Lane street this afternoon at about 1 o'clock.
It is not known how the fire started,
but as soon as the blaze was discovered an alarm was sent in from box 812. When the firemen reached the car, it was a mass of flames.

Awaits Report Before Taking Action

PARIS, April 11.—(By the Associated Press)—The French government is awaiting a final report from the allied commission in Upper Silesia before taking action regarding the tragedy at Gleiwitz, in which nearly a dozen French soldiers were killed by the explosion of a mine declared to have been placed under a secret storage depository for arms.

CASES IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Chelmsford Camps

Milk Dealer Fined $50 on Adulterated Milk Charge—
Other Cases

The greater part of today's session of police court was taken up with the trial of two young men for breaking and entering and larceny from Chelmsford camps, the arraignment of a milk dealer for having adulterated milk, the hearing of a case in which a young man and woman were charged with a statutory offense, and three continued cases, one of illegal keeping and the other two for drunkenness.

The young men charged with breaking and entering were sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory, one of them with a two years' suspension. The other appealed. In the case of adulterated milk the dealer was fined $50 and appealed, and in the statutory offense case the defendants were given suspended sentences.

The charge of breaking and entering and larceny against Thomas H. Slackhouse and Percy W. Coffin, continued from yesterday, concerned the breaks recently reported in camps in Chelmsford. Arthur F. Horst appeared.

Rotarians Hear Address on Business Management and Organization Development

Mr. R. C. Hay, assistant to the director of publicity and sales of the National Aniline and Chemical company, was the speaker at the weekly noon-day meeting of the Lowell Rotary club today, in the quarters of the Lowell Boys' club in Dutton street.

After an excellent luncheon had been served, the new president, H. Hutchins Parker, called the meeting to order, and introduced Mr. Hay as the principal speaker. Mr. Hay talked interestingly on business management and organization development.

The Rotary club, said Mr. Hay, is one of the most important organizations in the country for developing business and promoting its growth. It brings men together and gives them an opportunity to develop ideas much better than in the ordinary club. He spoke of the conduct of today's meeting, saying that although there was a considerable amount of jocularity

JOHN GRIFFIN OF AIKEN AVE. FOUND UNCONSCIOUS IN CELLAR

Mystery Surrounds Condition of Man Now at Hospital—Victim Not Seen Since Saturday Was Found by Neighbors Last Night as Result of Alarm Given by Milkman

John J. Griffin, of 89 Aiken avenue, was found unconscious on the floor of the cellar of his home last night, suffering either from a shock or from a fractured skull. He was taken to St. John's hospital and this noon had not regained consciousness. It is believed that whatever happened to him occurred Saturday, as he had not been seen since that time.

Mystery surrounds his condition and at first it was believed that he had met with foul play, but subsequent investigation renders this supposition more or less improbable. He has a bruise on his forehead that easily might have occurred through a fall, but there are burns and scald markings on one arm that physicians cannot account for.

Griffin, who is employed as a joiner by the Merrimack Woolen Co. at its Navy Yard mill, has been living alone for several weeks. He was last seen on Saturday when he returned home from his work. On Sunday

BELFAST, April 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Lord Mayor O'Neill of Dublin has issued invitations to prominent leaders of the opposing parties of southern Ireland to meet for discussion of the entire political situation with a view to reaching unity, it was learned here this afternoon. It is stated on reliable authority that Michael Collins has accepted the invitation.

Later it was learned that Eamon de Valera, Charles Burgess, Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith, all had accepted the lord mayor's invitation.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTS TEACHERS

Irregularity of Previous Election Was Straightened Out Last Night

Recommendation Not Followed in Appointment of Mr. O'Brien

The school committee last night legally elected Miss Margaret G. Riley a teacher of sewing in the elementary schools and Francis J. O'Brien an instructor of physical education.

Considerable controversy has arisen over these two new teachers inasmuch as their first salary payments were held up on recommendation of the budget and audit commission, who held that they had been illegally appointed, or appointed without an accompanying recommendation from the superintendent of schools.

Last night the superintendent gave a recommendation in each instance—Miss Riley's case, the board followed it, but he recommended Francis J. Haggerty as a physical instructor, and the board elected Mr. O'Brien by a vote of 8 to 2.

Voting for Mr. O'Brien were Mr. Delaney, Mrs. Donovan, Dr. Meehan, Mr. Mullin, Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Riordan.

WHITE CROSSING LINES

Crossing and Safety Zone Lines Are Painted in Merrimack Square

Pedestrians passing through Merrimack Square today found crossing lines marked out, connecting the four corners of the square in straight across directions. The white crossings were painted last night, or rather very early this morning, after vehicular traffic ceased. The work was done under the supervision of Officer Edward Connors, chief of the local traffic squad.

The new crossing paths are an experiment and will be watched by the city engineering department and the police for a few days to determine the wearing quality of the paint. If the paint proves satisfactory, plans to mark all much used downtown crossings will be carried out and also every hydrant situated on paved streets will be safety-zoned to prohibit parking.

From observation today, it was noticed that nine out of ten persons using the new crossing lanes as a matter of course and there was a material decrease in the number of jay walkers. The traffic officers point out, however, that the experiment is being tried out at the busiest and hardest intersection of streets in the entire city and it will be some time before people are educated not to cross the square diagonally.

In addition to the crossing lines, a safety zone for street car passengers has been painted on the pavement in Bridge street and two fire hydrants in the square one in front of the Fairburn building and another in front of the Grosvenor block has been marked out for a distance of 10 feet on either side. These, in themselves, are "no parking" signs.

If the paint works satisfactorily, safety zones for street car passengers will be placed on both sides of Merrimack street, also. It is not the wish to unnecessarily mark the pavement, but it is felt that a great deal of congestion can be obviated if the proper markings are laid out.

PRESENT TARIFF BILL TO SENATE

Will Be Taken Up April 21—
Long Fight May Continue for Three Months

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(By the Associated Press).—The administration tariff bill as rewritten by senate finance committee republicans on the basis for foreign valuation with provisions for flexible rates and proclaimed American valuation as recommended by President Harding, was presented today to the senate. It was announced that it would be taken up April 21. A long fight is in prospect with some estimates that it might continue for three months.

Taken as a whole, the bill, according to estimates of committee experts, averages slightly higher than the Payne-Aldrich law, the last republican protective tariff act. As compared with the house measure, the specific rates generally are higher, but the ad valorem rates generally are lower as such rates in the house bill were based on American valuation. Treasury experts have estimated roughly that the bill will raise from $300,000,000 to $350,000,000 of revenue annually, but they have not yet had time to complete accurate calculations. The house measure was estimated to raise $300,000,000, while the Underwood law yielded between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000.

Effect on Cost of Living

There is a division of opinion among the framers as to the probable effect the measure would have on the cost of living. In the official report accompanying the bill, it is stated that the committee majority had "endeavored to recommend rates that will afford protection to American industries and to enable our workmen to maintain an American standard of living."

With regard to the agricultural schedule, one of the loudest in the bill the report said the "committee adopted the policy of giving to agriculture the measure of protection that has been accorded to other industries." The rates in this schedule generally average higher than those in the house bill and included a large number of items, which were on the free list in the Underwood bill, but placed on the dutiable list in the emergency tariff act now in force.

As a general rule, the rates written into the agricultural schedule are at about the level demanded by the senate republican-farm-trust bloc. Committee experts stated, however, that with few exceptions, the rates in the agricultural schedule would not exceed 25 per cent. This schedule embraces meats, eggs, vegetables generally, fruits and practically all other products of the farm. The duty on wheat was fixed at 25 cents a bushel, the same as under the emergency act, but five cents above the figure fixed in the house bill. Under the democratic tariff act wheat was free.

The basic wool rate of 22 cents a pound was also maintained.

ACCEPTS POSITION OF FUEL ADMINISTRATOR

John M. O'Donoghue of the law firm of Trull, Weir & O'Donoghue, today accepted the position of fuel administrator for this city, as offered him by Mayor George H. Brown. He will serve during the emergency caused by the coal strike.

Mr. O'Donoghue's appointment is made at the request of Eugene C. Hultman, fuel administrator for Massachusetts, who requested that the mayor appoint a local director as a precautionary measure.

Mr. O'Donoghue served in a similar position during the war, although at that time the fuel supply was regulated by a committee of three, of which he was one. As yet he has formulated no plans and will not do so until he has talked over the general situation with Administrator Hultman.

LLOYD GEORGE TO THE RESCUE

British Premier for Second Time Intervenes and Rupture is Averted

Heavy Guards at Palace as Chiefs of All Nations Gather for Meeting

French Delegate Pleased at Way Lloyd George Smoothed Over Clash

GENOA, April 11.—(By the Associated Press) Admission of Russian and German representatives to the principal committee of the economic conference was strongly opposed today by both French and Belgian representatives. Premier Lloyd George, together with Premier Facta and Foreign Minister Schanzer of Italy intervened, however, and their conciliatory attitude finally resulted in the admittance of both the Russians and the Germans.

The opposition to the presence of the delegates from the two countries was an outgrowth of the Franco-Russian incident at the opening session of the conference. M. Barthou for France, but more especially M. Thounys for Belgium, placed themselves in opposition to the German and Russian representatives being admitted to the principal committee, while the representatives of the smaller countries which fought with the allies were excluded.

Premiers Facta and Lloyd George and Signor Schanzer maintained it would be impossible not to permit the Russians and the Germans to be represented on the committee which was to deal chiefly with the problems affecting Germany and Russia. They argued that the exclusion of these delegates would stultify the objects of the committee, because all were in agreement that the co-operation of Russia and Germany was indispensable to the reconstruction of Europe.

Premier Thounys in his argument declared the Germans were unworthy of taking part in the work of a committee of such importance in association with the representatives of honorable countries.

The discussion became so heated that Mr. Lloyd George declared emphatically that if such an intemperate spirit was going to prevail, it might be as well immediately to break up the conference, the principal object of which was to readmit Russia and Germany to the European family.

The work of conciliation undertaken by Premier Facta and Signor Schanzer was finally successful in bridging the crisis and securing the admission of the Russian and German representatives.

Ignorance Russia's Protest

GENOA, April 11.—(By the Associated Press)—At this afternoon's meeting of the principal conference committee, which is to consider Russian affairs, Foreign Minister Chicherin of Russia protested against the presence of the Rumanian and Japanese delegates, because Rumania was occupying Mesopotamia and Japan was occupying portions of Siberia.

Premier Facta of Italy who was presiding over the committee, declined to consider the Russian protest, giving as his reason that all the countries invited to the conference had a right to be represented on its committee.

(The Palazzo Reale was crowded about 1500 by the dramatic scene, was entered in 1918.)

FOR MARRIAGE SERVICE

Women Now Equals of Men
and Hence Vows Should
Be Reciprocal

NEW YORK, April 11.—Women in the United States are, in nearly all respects, the equals of men, and, therefore, the promises and vows of the man and woman at marriage should be reciprocal.

Such is the substance of a statement made today by George Zabriske, member of the commission on revision of the Book of Common Prayer of the Episcopal church in explanation of some of the changes the commission will recommend to the general convention of the church in Portland, Ore., next September.

"In reviewing the marriage service, the commission," he said, "considered that the status of woman has greatly changed since the service was incorporated in the prayer book in 1789 and has changed far more since the compilation of the medieval rite of the 12th and 13th centuries from which it was derived."

The common law at that time regarded the personality of a married woman as merged for most purposes in the personality of her husband, a legal conception which, recognized by the church, persisted through the reformation, Mr. Zabriske added.

He declared that the duty of obedience now had been abrogated and that women enjoyed, both in law and through social convention, privileges and immunities which were even denied to men. And so the commission, he said, had decided it was necessary that the obsolete part of the marriage service—the promise of the woman to obey—be made to conform to the facts of life.

Take Your College Course at Home
By Radiophone! It's Being Done

BY JOHN A. COUSINS,
President of Tufts College, Medford, Mass.

MEDFORD, Mass., April 11.—The development of the wireless telephone to such an extent that limited college courses may be given by means of it is now an accomplished fact.

Already lectures by members of the Tufts college faculty have been broadcast from the distributing station on the campus.

A committee of professors, appointed by the faculty to investigate further possibilities of the radio in connection with college education, has formulated important plans.

The lectures sent out to date have been those with a popular appeal. The first lecture was by Professor Wooster of the economics department on "The Story of Money."

It is quite possible to organize radio lectures into regular college courses, but the desirability of attempting this end and the practical obstacles which would have to be overcome constitute a question for the future.

Certainly fullest possibilities are worth striving for, because any method which tends to make knowledge more valuable is of immense value.

Tufts college's special interest in the wireless telephone is due to the presence on the campus of the radio laboratory of the American Radio and Research corporation, a company organized by Tufts men who have received their training in the Tufts Engineering school.

The facilities of this laboratory, used by advanced students in the engineering courses, were placed at the disposal of the college for use in connection with the million-dollar endowment fund now being raised.

The radio advertised the campaign for funds with good results.

Then the idea arose that the station might be used as a direct adjunct of the college. On investigation we discovered that radio-phone lectures by members of the faculty proved interesting to those who listened to them. Hence it was decided to continue and elaborate upon this departure in educational service.

Both the engineering and liberal arts school are represented on the faculty committee in charge.

Subjects of wide appeal, those dealing with questions of economics, history and political science, will make up the educational program of the wireless lectures for the immediate future.

to plunge himself into the river last night.

Watchers from the shore for a time feared the frail craft would be capsized. The grief-stricken father was finally subdued.

Carries Body Ashore
Another outburst of grief was witnessed as the boat neared the shore. The father, grabbing up the body, jumped into the river, in water up to his waist and, crying piteously, carried the boy in his arms to shore.

On the shore he placed the body tenderly on the grass, bent over it and poured out his grief.

The mother of the boy, attracted by the excitement, ran from her home. She collapsed.

Forys was in his yard in Bowdoin street, on an embankment above the river, when he saw a boy swimming about 150 yards off shore, toward a dangerous current.

Saw the Boy Sink
Never giving thought that it might be his own boy, he ran to the river and plunged in. He had waded out a way when he saw the boy's head sink below the surface. A swift current in the river had made the boy's fight fruitless.

Forys called the police. Still unmind-

ful that the victim might be his boy, he offered to direct the searchers, under Police Sergeant John Perkins.

A premonition seemed to come over the father during the search.

"It just dawned on me," he told the police, "that I haven't seen my son, Boleshaw, this afternoon. He's nine. This boy didn't look older than that. I hope nothing has happened to my son."

Within a few minutes, Patrolman John Ward had pulled the body of Forys' son from the water.

Playmates of the boy said they were playing on Sonoma court when Boleshaw ran down the steep embankment. He tripped at the foot of the embankment and fell into the water. The current was so swift it fast carried him, from shore.

Radio Currents Generated so Audible Responses Result in Headpiece Receiver

Expert Duncan Discloses Secret of Transmitting by Rectifying Current

BY R. L. DUNCAN,
Director, Radio Institute of America

How are discontinuous or damped radio waves received?

They are sent out by radio frequency currents generated in audio frequency groups by the charge and discharge of a condenser on a circuit using alternating current.

Some means must be resorted to so that the audible response is obtained in the head phones of the receiving station. But how?

By rectifying the alternating current.

There are certain elements that have this property of being rectifiers. Among the crystalline, there are iron pyrites, silicon carbide, molybdenite and galena which may be used. The last is considered most preferable.

These elements, however, will rectify only signals originating from an alternating current.

Although telephone communication has a direct source of supply, it is so modulated by the microphone transmitter that we compare it to an alternating current for simplicity.

The rectifier is connected in series with the telephone in the receiving circuit upon which the incoming waves are impressed.

And the incoming wave trains from the distant transmitting stations are caught by the receiving aerial.

They go down the circuit to the detector that rectifies them. One-half of the wave train is suppressed.

They are then translated into a group of decayed direct current impulses which pass on through the phone headpiece in a wave.

With the telephone acting as translator, these discontinuous or damped waves are finally made audible by the rectification of the detector and the translation of the head phone.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away go indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lax, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramping or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 50c—Adv.

revolutionary and bandit activity in the states of Vera Cruz, Jalisco and Nayarit, in Mexico. The rebels in Nayarit were reported to number from 300 to 400 men under the leadership of Pablo Gonzales. In Jalisco, six separate bands were reported in the field in open rebellion against the central government, although their strength thus far is regarded as insignificant.

The activity in Vera Cruz was reported to have assumed considerable importance in view of the defeat, which the rebel leader, General Miguel Aleman, with a band estimated at 800 men recently administered to the federal forces.

The spread of radicalism, it was reported, continues unabated, with impetus being given to the movement by emissaries from various countries, including the United States.

The Stump Eating Machine

S. M. HURD, LOUISIANA FARMER, OPERATING THE STUMP-REMOVING DEVICE HE INVENTED.

(By N. E. A. Service)
NEW ORLEANS, April 10.—A mechanical device that chews up stumps, roots and all, and bales them for use as fuel, is expected to clear thousands of acres of cutover land, now the despair of farmers.

Hurd's device is fastened to the front of a tractor. It looks like an airplane propeller—two great sharp blades crossed at right angles.

These blades are pointed and closely set with sharp steel teeth.

The operator drives his tractor to a stump and sets the device in action. There's a shower of dirt and wooden chips. The blade sinks 12 inches into the ground, destroying the deepest roots of the stump.

In two minutes the stump has disappeared. There's only a jagged hole in the ground.

An attachment collects the chips and automatically bales them for use as fuel or, if the wood is pine, for the extraction of turpentine.

Hurd, former oil man in Mexico, settled on his Springfield farm 15 years ago. He found the stumps defied every effort to grub, pull or dynamite them. Then he set about making a stump-eating machine.

Today, after 15 years' work and the expenditure of $15,000, he thinks he's hit on the right idea.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Representative Woodruff, republican, Michigan, said in the house today if the attorney general did not "fully look to the interests of the government" in a pending claim suit against the Lincoln Motor Co., he would "consider him guilty of misfeasance and move his impeachment." Mr. Woodruff's statement was made in the course of an extended speech in which he charged that the department of justice had failed to proceed in civil and criminal courts against a number of war contractors, on testimony brought out before congressional investigating committees.

FEW PICKETS ON DUTY TODAY

Lawrence Police Having Little to Do—Force May Be Reduced, Says Chief

United Textile Workers Plan to Organize Workers of American Woolen Co.

LAWRENCE, April 11.—Fewer pickets were on the streets today than has been the case with the exception of one stormy Saturday since the textile strike began here two weeks ago Monday. At the Acadia, Katama, Monomac and Pemberton plants, the four which still throw open their gates each morning, there were not more than 100 pickets combined and police officers at the gates said that fewer than ever went into the plants to work.

The police officers are having very little to do and if the quiet that prevailed this morning continues this noon and tonight, it is probable, according to City Marshal Timothy J. O'Brien, that not so many will be called upon for duty tomorrow.

The United Textile Workers of America are laying their plans for organizing the workers of the American Woolen Co., and this morning announced that meetings of various workers will be held next Saturday afternoon for this purpose. It is in the plants of the American Woolen Co., that Ben Legere claims his organization has its greatest strength.

Legere is planning a sympathetic strike of the American Woolen Co. workers but President Thomas F. McMahon of the U.T.W. of A. says he is opposed to a sympathetic strike.

ACCUSED

Edward T. Mercer, 21, sailor of Norfolk, Va., is under arrest at Baltimore following the finding of the mutilated body of his wife, Ruth, 20, in Chesapeake Bay at Ocean View. Mercer says he can establish his innocence and that he has not been in Ocean View for three years.

C.M.A.C. HOWLING LEAGUE
The date for the banquet, which will mark the closing of the C.M.A.C. Howling league has been set as Monday evening, April 24. The festivities will be conducted in the assembly hall of the association and will be attended by the members of the various teams and a few invited guests. The president of the banquet will be Frank Gayser, chairman of the league, and the speakers will include Roy E. G. Bachant, C.M.L. Rev. Guillelmo Quicler, C.M.L. President J. A. N. Chretien of the association and others. At the close of the dinner the team and individual prizes will be awarded.

POSTOFFICE TELEPHONES
Acting on a recommendation of former Postmaster McMahon, Acting Postmaster Lefelle has given orders for the installation of telephones at the Middle street postoffice and the Postoffice garage in Perry street. These two telephones as soon as they are installed, will be connected with the switchboard at the main building in Gormah at the number of which is 418, so that after a few days any one having any business with the employees of the Middle street station or the Postoffice garage, may reach them by telephone.

200 GALLONS OF GIN STOLEN

WAREHOUSE POINT, Conn., April 11.—Thief of 200 gallons of gin from the bonded warehouse of the Baird-Daniels Co., here was reported to the police last night. The warehouse, which is guarded day and night, was entered last Friday night, it was said, and the gin removed from the building through a hole cut in a rear wall. The robbers had their own containers, the investigation shows, and loaded them on a motor truck nearby.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT

Mass. Still Has 4754 Survivors of the Civil War, Says Commander Morrell

BOSTON, April 11.—Massachusetts still has 4754 survivors of the Civil war, Department Commander Edwin F. Morrell of Everett reported at the 56th annual state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which opened in Faneuil hall today. About 500 of the survivors attended the meeting.

The post at Palmer disappeared during the year, Commander Morrell said, adding that "quite a number have less than 10 survivors left." The department lost 547 members by death since the last encampment, he reported.

"Let us who still survive take courage in the fact that as the years speed away the tie of the fraternity grows stronger," he added.

JOFFRE TO UNVEIL
BUST OF GRANT

NEW YORK, April 11.—Marshal Joffre has accepted an invitation to unveil a bust of General U. S. Grant in the Hall of Fame at New York university on April 27, the centennial of the general's birth.

The bust is by Henry Shrady, whose equestrian statue of General Grant is to be unveiled in Washington on the same day.

NEW GINGHAMS
FOR ALL PURPOSES

Imitation is said to be the sincerest form of flattery, and the fact that gingham is unquenchable in popularity is evidence of its high quality. The once humble gingham has climbed along the road to sartorial prominence.

Gingham is used for almost everything under the sun, the reason. It makes the draperies and upholstery coverings in nursery or informal bungalow and cottage bedrooms; it is used to trim some of the smartest frocks and houses; it is even, this season, made into bathing suits, as Palm Beach has noted. But its first, last and most popular use has been and probably always will be for informal frocks.

The exquisitely fine tissue gingham, now offered in such a wealth of designs, colors and shades, puts gingham definitely into the class of the very finest of woman's summer fabrics, suitable for summer shopping, country club and resort wear, even for informal afternoon affairs like porch parties and garden teas.

Of course, gingham always has been liked for children's frocks.

Checks are the most popular design, say the mill heads and importers. In the fine tissue gingham the most solid are those combining a delicate shade with white in small checks from a quarter to half an inch square. Stripes are good, however, and are offered in a variety of widths and colors.

of conversations with the defendants in the presence of Officer Charles Petrie.

Officer Petrie was the next witness. He told of examining the Hoyt camp on Sunday. He arrested Stackhouse at the camp, asking him his name and if there was anyone else connected with the break. Stackhouse, said the officer, admitted he had done wrong and later was confronted with Coffin and claimed him as an accomplice.

After arrest, Stackhouse, it was stated, again admitted his guilt to Captain David Petrie at the local station.

Attorney George Allard for the defense, questioned the identification of footprints by the officers as those of the defendants. The witnesses had testified they had traced the footprints of the two from Hoyt's camp to Stackhouse's residence, where both boys reside. Officer Petrie admitted the footprints had not been measured.

Mrs. Stackhouse testified to the boys' good records and industry. John J. Lane followed for the defense, testifying that Coffin worked for him in the past and he had offered him work for the future.

The judge said that it was a sad case for the mother, but that he intended to stop the continued breaking into camps. Stackhouse was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory and Coffin received the same sentence, with a two-years' suspension. Stackhouse appealed and was held in $500 bonds for superior court.

Milk Law Violation

Joe Smith appeared for violation of the milk law. John J. Coughlin, assistant milk inspector, testified that ## he had taken six samples from Smith's

over to Milk Inspector Melvin Master. Inspector Master told of the analysis of the milk, quoting figures to show it was under grade, with a water content of 26 per cent.

Judge Enright assessed the minimum fine for this offense, $50. On appeal, the defendant was held in bonds to the amount of $300 for superior court.

Sentences Suspended

Maxine Borstos and Alfred Leavitt were charged with a statutory offense. Capt. David Petrie, Sgt. James Kennedy and the woman's husband testified for the prosecution. After hearing the story told by the defendants, the man was given a sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory, and the woman was committed to the woman's reformatory at Sherborn, both sentences suspended for two years.

Other Offenders

Wladyslaw Nallwaiko, charged with drunkenness, and brought in on a capias because of his non-appearance yesterday, faced the court this morning. His wife testified that he abused her when drunk. An alleged companion of Wladyslaw was called forward, and Mrs. Nallwaiko said he had no money and took her husband out and got him drunk. The man denied this volubly. Judge Enright ordered Nallwaiko and his wife to appear later, placing them under bonds of $500 each in the meantime.

Peter Dunitz, who was continued from yesterday on a drunkenness complaint, was continued a week, because his wife is reported ill and could not appear today.

Thomas B. Rourke, for illegal keeping, was continued until April 21.

DID NOT ASK FOR WAGE INCREASE

Local, 12, Coal Teamsters' union through its secretary, Telephore Cardinal, takes exception to a statement attributed to a local coal dealer to the effect that the coal teamsters of this city demanded an increase in wages beginning April 1 of the present year. In his reply to the alleged statement, Mr. Cardinal quotes article three of the agreement between the coal teamsters and the dealers, which he claims is sufficient to refute any statement of that nature. Mr. Cardinal's statement is as follows:

"In article three of our agreement, the wording is that 'wages are to remain as they are' and I don't see how any dealer can say from that we demanded an increase of pay. Moreover, the letter from the secretary of the dealers' association, which was written in answer to our articles of agreement, said nothing concerning an increase, and simply stated that the present wages would remain as they are until the adjustment of the differences at the mines. It is unfair to our union and to ourselves to say that we demanded an increase in wages when our own articles of agreement state specifically that the wages are to remain as they are."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KELTH'S THEATRE
Among the funniest sketches seen here in a long time is "The Rube," presented at B. F. Kelth's theatre this week by Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Barry. The pair have visited Lowell in the same vehicle many times in the past, and some changes have been made in the sketch, but Mr. and Mrs. Barry remain among the best mirth-provokers in the business.

As "The Rube," Mr. Barry puts more comedy over the footlights than the average comedian, and does it in a style that is inimitable. Mrs. Barry, as an actress enjoying the blandishments of a haysed stage door Johnnie, is exceptionally clever, and the

Lady Recovers Health After Serious Nervous Break-down

Claims Wincarnis Did It

"Some time ago I had a very serious nervous breakdown. I became so weak, fretful, irritable and excitable that the least little thing made my heart flutter and my limbs tremble as though I had a chill. I was utterly unable to control my emotions and a clap of thunder would make me shudder from terror. I finally became so depressed, fidgety and debilitated that I sometimes felt actually ashamed of myself. I lost a great deal of weight and simply could not get any restful sleep.

I began taking Wincarnis and after a very short time the improvement in my whole condition was nothing less than startling. Everyone commented on the wonderful improvement of my condition. Today I am completely restored to health and never feel the slightest trace of nervousness. My appetite is excellent. I sleep soundly every night, am cheerful all the time and have an abundance of energy. I do wish that every nervous or broken-down woman could know what a wonderful tonic and restorative Wincarnis is."

(Mrs. May Bultuis, 637 W. 42nd St., New York)

spectators thoroughly enjoy the sudden turn at the end when the rube shows himself wiser than the city folks.

Another good comedy offering is that of Josie Rooney, in "A Cafe Honky-Tonk." Besides proving herself a clever singer and dancer and a worthy member of the famous Rooney family, she displays an attractive mannerism all her own. Her dancing specialties, in one of which she gives an imitation of her brother Pat, are about the best seen here during the season, and her comeliness does not in the least detract from her instant popularity. She is assisted by Bobby Nelson and Rube Beckwith, one a pianist and the other a violinist and dancer.

The Hegedus sisters, violinists, present a pleasing musical act. Each of the sisters plays a violin selection and the third number on their program is a selection for two violins. Miss Herta Hegedus opens with Chopin's "Nocturne," with sister Margie at the plans, and in the next selection, "Ronde des Lutins," by Bizet, the sisters reverse their positions. Miss Margie taking the violin solo. Both join in Sarasate's "Navarra." The girls are Austrians, who have been in this country about four months.

A good trio act is presented by Sharkey, Roth and Witt. They call themselves a triple alliance of song, music and fun. Judging their work by last night's performance, they have all the goods included in their own description.

Hungarian dances, grand opera and jazz selections are among the offerings of Countess Verona, who plays the cimbalom, an instrument resembling the harpsichord, but played with hammer. The young woman has a splendid setting, and her costume, of rich colors, sets off her dark complexion amazingly. She knows where the applause is, too, for her eyes were constantly seeking the lofty perches of the gallery, whence applause comes.

Morali and Harris, in "Bum-Voyage," present a fine comedy skit in which Mr. Morali proves himself an excellent tenor, and Miss Harris, a well equipped comedienne. The "Silent" feature presents Montambo and Nap, close the bill with an excellent tumbling specialty. Acap's Fables, Topics of the Day, Pathe News and a variety form the motion picture attractions.

THE STRAND THEATRE

Two Lowell favorites appear at the Strand theatre the first three days of the week. They are Tom Moore, the noted comedian, who is being featured in a comedy-drama entitled "From the Ground Up," and Lottie Pickford, sister of the famous Maude, who is holding the title role in "They Shall Pay," a most gripping melodrama.

In "From the Ground Up" Mr. Moore impersonates "Terrence Gilley," who digs ditches for a living. Terrence is also musically inclined and his favorite instrument is the harmonica, which he enjoys playing during his spare moments. One day while he is employed on the erection of a sky-scraper as a vallet to a steam shovel, he is visited by the daughter of the owner of the building, who is very much interested in his musical efforts. One day Terrence saves the life of his employer's son and in payment the father invests part of Terrence's wages and makes a thousand dollars for him. This brings Terrence's fortune, and gives him a good start in life with the result that when the building is finished he is located on the top floor with spacious offices. Of course the young woman, who was interested in his musical efforts is brought back on the scene and what follows is very interesting. "They Shall Pay" is a play based on the slogan "revenge," and unfolds a most gripping story. It deals with a unwieldy itself to the satisfaction of all save one—the real murderer. About the biggest factor of "The Cradle" is the worries over family finances and pictures a peaceful doctor attempting to make both ends meet. Miss Clayton is the doctor's wife. The doctor comes in contact with a rich society woman and his professional visits soon turn to social calls. The rich woman finds, in the doctor, a plaything and starts to amuse herself with him. Under the pretext of going to a hospital to do some work, the doctor deserts Mrs. Clayton during the night and calls upon the society queen. The wife discovers the true state of affairs and a reckoning with her husband follows. The couple agree to a divorce which is granted. The doctor marries the society belle while his wife marries a former suitor. A little child enters the drama here and turns things about in a manner wholly unexpected to everyone.

DELEGATES ELECTED

At a regular meeting of Edith Prescott Walcott auxiliary held last evening the following delegates were elected to represent the organization at the department convention to be held at Malden April 17: Mrs. Margaret Bellamy, Mrs. Bessie Barnes, Mrs. Edna Chandler, Mrs. Ida Faneur, Mrs. Elizabeth Mitchell, Past Department President Mrs. Blanche M. Jelly, Past Presidents Mrs. Elizabeth Larkin, Mrs. Isabel Pike, Mrs. Jennie Jevon and Mrs. Annie Nowden, Past Department Treasurer Mrs. Alice B. Kittredge. Those spoken as alternates were Mrs. Martha Blakey, Mrs. Bessie Robinson, Mrs. Rose Coleman, Mrs. Jeanie Everett and Mrs. Mary McBride. The prize-drawing was won by Miss Elizabeth Larkin. ## A SWEET LITTLE BABY BOY

Makes a Bright Spot in Every Home. A Comfort in Years to Come

Park Rapids, Minnesota.—"I have taken your medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—when I was a girl for pains and before and after my marriage. I now have a sweet little baby boy and will send you his picture if you wish to publish it. My sisters also take your medicine and find it a great help, and I recommend it to those who suffer before their babies are born."

Mrs. Wm. Johnson, Box 156, Park Rapids, Minn.

To marry and arrive at middle age without children is a great disappointment to many women. Think of the joy and comfort other women have in their children as they grow older.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped to bring great happiness to many families by restoring women to health. Often the childless home is due to a run down condition of the wife, which may be helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It brought health and happiness into the home of Mrs. Johnson. Why not to yours?

PICKETS OUT IN LARGE NUMBERS

Withdrawal of Troops Brings Increased Activity of Pickets at Pawtucket, R. I.

Try to Persuade Workers Who Had Returned to Mills to Rejoin Strikers

PAWTUCKET, R. I., April 11.—The announcement that the soldiers were to be withdrawn from the city today evidently caused the textile strike pickets to redouble their efforts to prevent workers from returning to the mills and also to persuade others who had returned to again join the ranks of the strikers. Last night the homes of several of the workers were picketed and the demonstrations that followed necessitated police interference. As a result, several arrests were made.

When about 50 workers, said to be band for the Jencks Spinning Co.'s mills, arrived in electric cars from Providence today, they were met by a delegation of strikers and, after a conference, the workers returned to Providence, accompanied by some of the strikers.

The pickets were out in unusually large numbers this morning and gave particular attention to the mills of the Jencks Spinning and Crowa Manufacturing companies. Most of the workers at these plants are conveyed in trucks or automobiles and are taken right into the yards without molestation. Some also walked to the mills and pass the pickets, some of whom become too eager to win them to their ranks with the result that arrests follow.

The police said there would be at least a half dozen strikers arraigned in the district court today.

PRINCE OF WALES NEARS YOKOHAMA POST

TOKIO, April 11.—(By the Associated Press.) The Prince of Wales today was nearing Yokohama, where he will disembark for his official visit to Japan, said a wireless message from the battleship Renown, bearing the British heir apparent from India. Escorted by British and Japanese craft, the Renown, which struck exceptionally heavy seas Sunday, reached smoother water today.

Thousands of Japanese and foreign visitors, among whom were many Americans, planned to go to Yokohama to join in welcoming the prince, who will be escorted to Tokio through an avenue of spring blossoms which are now at their best. Large forces of police have been ordered to maintain the strictest guard along the route. The same precautions have been taken throughout Japan.

Premier Takahashi, in his official message of welcome, said the royal visitor's coming to Japan would "go down in history as an epoch heralding the growing harmony and accord between the east and the west."

LYNN, April 11.—The Shoe Manufacturers' association, replying today to the United Shoe Workers' central rate committee's compromise offer to submit to a 15 per cent wage cut, said that wage reduction alone would not be sufficient to sustain the industry which was now carrying a load of highly overpaid and unskilled operation.

The rate committee had suggested the 15 per cent cut instead of one of 20 per cent, proposed by the manufacturers, the new agreement to run until June 1, 1923, on a basis of a 45-hour week. The manufacturers insist that a 50-hour week is necessary to enable them to cut down overhead costs proportionately.

Their communication also objected to "unreasonable interference with hiring and work of help and other uneconomic conditions with which the industry is burdened." The reference was to the permit system by which the unions have issued cards qualifying operatives for work in a given craft at a stated shop.

The manufacturers also point out the need for grading factories so that wages will be uniform on each grade of shoes, and for rearranging wages on a basis of skill.

Bandits Rob Everett Girl of Payroll

EVERETT, April 11.—That two masked men held up and robbed Miss Anna McNeill, bookkeeper of a local machine company of the payroll of $131, on Saturday became known today when a reward for the arrest and conviction of the men was offered by the company. The men held up the young woman with pistols on the second floor of the company's plant. The police kept the robbery secret in the hope of apprehending the bandits.

Posed as Police to Blackmail Spooners

CAMBRIDGE, April 11.—Four police inspectors, two of them disguised as women, on a simulated spooning expedition in automobiles at Fresh Pond parkway late last night, served as decoys for the arrest of 10 young men, alleged to be members of gangs of young men, who posing as police, were blackmailing real spooners along the boulevard. Two of the men arrested had revolvers. The arrests were made by officers hidden in bushes nearby.

To Transport Lobster From Nova Scotia

OTTAWA, April 11.—A plea for a Canadian merchant marine vessel to ply between Eastern Nova Scotia ports and Boston for the transportation of live lobster, has been submitted to the Canadian government by members of parliament from that section. ## Found Dead With Bullet Wound in Head

BOSTON, April 11.—John R. Hebert, 25 years old, was found dead in bed with a bullet wound through his head in the bedroom of his friend, James Omano in Dorchester, early today. A revolver was found at his side. Hebert and John Johnson were visiting Omano. The latter went across the street to visit his brother. A few minutes later, Johnson came running from the house shouting that Hebert had been roaming through the Omano apartment and had shot himself. Medical Examiner William Waters and the police are conducting an investigation. The police report on the case at present reads: "Sudden death."

School Board Elects Teachers

ley, with Mr. Lambert, Mrs. Pearson and Dr. Slaughter following the superintendent's recommendation.

While Miss Riley's election went through without a ripple of protest, it was not so in Mr. O'Brien's case. Dr. Slaughter, particularly, spoke in favor of Mr. Haggerty, pointing out his long years of military service as making for an excellent qualification. When Mr. Molloy recommended Mr. Haggerty, he read the latter's letter of application and an accompanying letter of recommendation from Rev. D. A. Sullivan, O.M.I., for years the moving spirit of the O.M.I. Cadets.

Supt. Molloy hesitated to make a recommendation for a physical instructor until it was definitely settled whether or not the board was going to proceed to elect one. Mr. Delaney asked the superintendent for a recommendation, and said:

"The superintendent is not a member of this board and no right to offer suggestions as to the manner in which we shall carry on our work."

The superintendent replied that he felt that he had a perfect right to suggest and that his suggestion should carry some weight.

Chairman Riley called the meeting to order at 8:15 o'clock. All members were present.

The call for the special meeting was

read, setting forth that the meeting was called for the purpose of electing a teacher of sewing in the elementary schools and an instructor of physical training.

The committee voted to the effect that the meeting held on Friday last, at which there were but six members present, be not considered a meeting in fact, and that no minutes of that meeting be placed upon the records of the committee.

Chairman Riley read a portion of an opinion received by him from the city solicitor, in which it was set forth that any election of a teacher made without an accompanying recommendation by the superintendent is invalid.

Supt. Molloy recommended Miss Margaret G. Riley as a teacher of sewing in the elementary schools, and on a roll call vote, the recommendation was unanimously accepted.

Miss Riley was then elected unanimously.

Mrs. Pearson asked whether or not at a previous meeting of the board Donald C. MacIntyre, in charge of physical training, had said that he did not need any additional instructors.

Mr. Molloy replied that Mr. MacIntyre had said that he did not need any more instructors and that the superintendent also voiced the same opinion.

Mrs. Pearson added that word had come to her that Mr. MacIntyre has had a great deal of trouble in arranging his schedule of instruction with the instructors now on hand, and said that she did not believe another teacher is necessary at this time.

Mr. Delaney asked that the superintendent be instructed to make a recommendation for the position of instructor of physical instruction in the elementary schools.

Before the superintendent gave his recommendation, Mr. Delaney moved that a roll call be taken to show whether or not the board wished to proceed to an election.

This vote carried, 5 to 3, with Mr. Sullivan not voting. Mr. Lambert, Mrs. Pearson and Dr. Slaughter voted against the motion.

Supt. Molloy in making a recommendation read a letter of application from Francis J. Haggerty and an accompanying recommendation from Rev. D. A. Sullivan, O. M. I. Subsequently Mr. Molloy recommended Mr. Haggerty for the position.

There was considerable discussion

before the question went to a roll call, with Dr. Slaughter voicing the opinion that inasmuch as Mr. Haggerty was a man with six years of military training and for a number of years at the head of the O.M.I. Cadets, he should be elected to the place. She also mentioned the fact that he has a splendid world war record.

The motion then went to a roll call vote, with Francis J. O'Brien receiving six votes and Mr. Haggerty, three. Those who favored Mr. Haggerty were Mr. Lambert, Mrs. Pearson and Dr. Slaughter.

Increases the action of the intestines

Hundreds of men and women have already found freedom from laxatives by eating Fleischmann's fresh yeast.

Doctors are now agreed that proper elimination of waste matter should be brought about by food. One doctor comes right out and states plainly that the indiscriminate use of cathartics is one of the causes of constipation.

Physicians all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast because it is a fresh food, rich in those elements which keep the intestines healthy. In one series of tested cases, normal functions were restored in from 3 days to 5 weeks.

Try it out for yourself. Begin today by adding 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your everyday diet. Keep it up and see how normally and regularly your intestines act. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer.

GRADUATING EXERCISES AT TEXTILE SCHOOL

The graduating exercises of the evening Textile school will be held tomorrow evening at 7.45 o'clock in Southwick hall. The speaker will be Hon. George B. Chamberlain, state senator of Springfield and a member of the committee on education of the legislature. There will be seventy-five certificates granted and following the usual custom these will be delivered to the graduates by the mayor.

Principal Charles H. Eames is very proud of the fact that 550 boys have taken the evening courses. These are chiefly from Lowell, although quite a number comes from the surrounding towns and cities. Mr. Eames thinks that it is proof of the right spirit of persistence when a boy keeps up attendance at these evening classes for four or five years in order to obtain a certificate. That is the kind of work, he says, that will ultimately count for success.

LLOYD GEORGE PREVENTS BREAK

LONDON, April 11.—The correspondent of the London Times at Genoa, writing of the disagreement between Chitchein and Barthou over disarmament, says that Premier Lloyd George, in answering the Russian soviet delegate, insisted that the conference would be a failure unless it led ultimately to disarmament, but urged that before disarmament came there must be peace and a peace basis at Genoa.

Mr. Lloyd George begged Chitchein to confine himself to the agenda and not press for an extension of the Genoa conference.

"If you super-add to our proposals," he declared, "you will wreck the conference."

Turning to the delegates, the British prime minister exclaimed:

"If Mr. Chitchein removes the load-line of our conference ship he will sink it, and I would point out that he might be among the drowned. We may have a rough time ahead, and we don't want to be overloaded."

The matters on the agenda, continued Mr. Lloyd George, were enormously important, and it would be criminal to destroy the hope of millions of people by endeavoring to solve more problems than could possibly be managed.

"Let Mr. Chitchein finish this voyage," he advised, "and go home with all he can carry; then we will welcome him on another voyage when we know what sort of a passenger he is."

President Pavia, seconded Mr. Lloyd George's appeal not to wreck the conference, he considered it would be wise not to carry the discussion further. Before these words could be translated, Mr. Barthou protested—"I want to know yes or no. Have all the delegations here accepted the Cannes resolution? If not, we cannot continue the discussion. If they have, well and good."

The correspondent adds: "Thus the incident closed, though not very satisfactorily. Signor Pavia reiterated that he thought the discussion should end and Mr. Barthou made a discontented sign of assent."

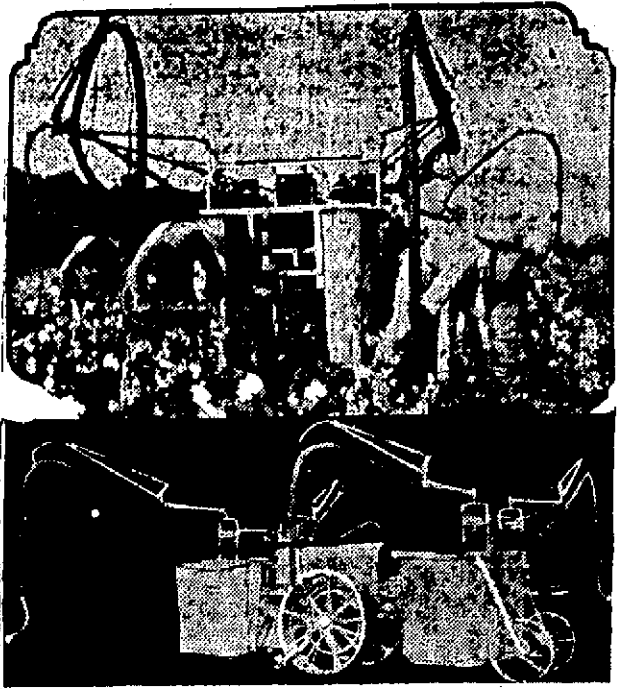

The incident occurred, according to the correspondent, when the soviet foreign minister, following Pavia, Lloyd George, Barthou, Wirth and the spokesmen of Japan and Belgium, welcomed Mr. Lloyd George's assurance that the members of the conference were met on absolutely equal terms, announced the Bolshevik acceptance of the Cannes resolution and added that in some respects "the Russian government" would desire to go beyond the Cannes resolution. Mr. Chitchein said that Russia would support any efforts to avoid a new war, or designed to lighten the burden of armaments, but must demand an indispensable guarantee against attacks from the outside, and also demand financial reciprocity.

The sense of Mr. Chitchein's speech was so clear and so disquieting that when he sat down Mr. Barthou immediately took exception to the speech.

"Mr. Chitchein has announced his intention of introducing the question of disarmament, which is not on the agenda," declared Mr. Barthou, "and I see simply but clearly, this when and if Russia wants to examine this question she will be faced not only by the reserve of France, but with her protest and an absolute, final and decisive refusal to discuss it."

"Vacuum Cleaner" Is Cotton Picker

(By N. E. A. Service)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 10.—An electrically operated cotton picker, recently tried out here, threatens to do away with the present method of picking cotton by hand, in use 4000 years. It is expected to cut the producing cost of cotton in two and double the prosperity of cotton-producing states.

The device is mounted on a tractor. The tractor not only furnishes the motive power but generates the electric current that operates the picker.

Works by Vacuum

The picking apparatus consists of several rapidly revolving brushes. These gather the cotton from the boll. A vacuum then draws the cotton through a flexible tube and after extracting from the cotton all dust, dirt and moisture, drops it into a receptacle. Two to four picker heads can be carried on a tractor and nine-tenths of cotton can be picked each trip without injury to the plant or the unripened boll.

Three Times as Fast

This new device, it is claimed, can pick three times as fast as the most expert hand picker. And the cotton is of much higher grade than that picked by hand.

Southern cotton planters heretofore have been limited in their crops to what they could pick with the labor available.

With this device they will be able to plant more cotton, cultivate it better, and pick it three times as fast when ripe without extra help, the inventors say.

The machine already has stood up under exhaustive field tests here.

Daughter of Julia Ward Howe Dead

NEW YORK, April 11.—Mrs. Florence Marion Howe Hall, 77, eldest surviving daughter of the late Samuel Gridley Howe and Julia Ward Howe, is dead at her home in High Bridge, N. J. She was a direct descendant of Samuel Ward, revolutionary governor of Rhode Island. Her father founded the Perkins Institute for the Blind at Boston. From her mother, she inherited her marked literary talent.

$5000 Loss by Fire at Portland

PORTLAND, Me., April 11.—Fire which early today threatened the block of business and office buildings between Middle and Milk streets was confined to the store of the M. F. Bragdon Paint Co., at 47 Exchange street, with a loss estimated at $5000.

Ford Granted Site For Factory in Cork

CORK, April 11.—The city corporation today decided by a vote of 18 to 13 to grant Henry Ford the site of his tractor factory here in Fee Simple.

He was convinced that the Italian delegation would support him, insisting that no one could escape the Cannes resolutions directly or indirectly.

Chitchein listened in silence to the translation of the speech. He rose again and explained that he did not know the conference program officially but only through newspapers. The agenda presumably was provisional, he was only asking for information and was willing to bow before the collective decision of the conference.

He quoted M. Briand at the Washington conference regarding Russia's armament and said: "For us this is a capital question, but we are here in a conciliatory spirit and will therefore do as the conference desires."

Mr. Lloyd George spoke after M. Chitchein. Signor Pavia said he considered the Cannes resolution as clear as the two best languages, English and French, could make them, and concluded with a final appeal.

Drastic Order Against Arms Carrying

BELFAST, April 11.—(By the Associated Press)—A drastic order against arms carrying was issued here today. The order reads: "No person will be eligible to have or carry firearms for any purpose whatsoever, unless he is or becomes a member of the crown forces, including the special constabulary, and only so long as he remains a member of these forces." This means the cancellation of all private permits to carry arms.

SUMMER SCHOOL OF HORSEMANSHIP

NORTHFIELD, Vt., April 11.—Plans for a summer school of horsemanship and polo have been submitted to President Plumley of Norwich university by the military department for consideration by the trustees.

It is proposed to enroll only 25 men the first year. They would be taught everything about a horse that a man who rides ought to know.

Supporters of the plan set forth that a number of youths who might not desire to enter a training camp, would care to come to Norwich instead of entering an expensive summer camp, where little instruction in equitation would be received. Belief has been expressed that through association with young officers of the reserve corps, many of the pupils would enroll in a R. O. T. C. on entering college.

ANOTHER STRIKE

IN WOONSOCKET

WOONSOCKET, R. I., April 11.—The Manchester Co.'s cotton mill here was closed this morning by a walkout of 100 weavers, who refused a proposed 10 per cent wage cut and 64 hours' working week.

The management announced that new contracts could be made only by revision of wages, effective July 1. This is the second cotton mill strike in Woonsocket due to proposed cuts, the first at the Woonsocket Falls mill, being settled by a compromise.

THE EXPERIENCE OF A FAMOUS MALE NURSE

Mr. Geo. B. Jenkins, of 621 Putnam Ave., Cambridge, Mass., was for more than eighteen years a special nurse, attending to men who were sufferers of one or more great ills. Mr. Jenkins has been in attendance upon a number of very prominent men of the country. He has travelled with them and their physicians from coast to coast, and is therefore a man who has had a remarkably wide experience with doctors and medicines. He has for years been acquainted with the reputation of the Winslow line, and says:

"In spite of my broad experience, I had not found remedies that suited my own ills until I became acquainted with the Winslow line. I have for years been a chronic sufferer from Bronchitis Catarrh and Torpid Liver. For all my liver ills I had found no relief until I commenced to take Sennal. Catarrhs merely aggravated the trouble, giving but temporary help. Sennal put me in first-class shape in a general way, and I can say that Torpid Liver, Digestive Troubles and all allied ills have practically passed away from me, and I believe forever, after a thorough course of treatment with Sennal, the Sennal Tonic."

All ambitious druggists sell Sennal.

U. S. TO CHECK SOARING
EASTER LILY PRICES

BY HARRY HUNT
WASHINGTON, April 11.—Uncle Sam is no longer dependent upon Bermuda and Japan for the great white, bell-mouthed lilies that form the center of home and church decorations at Easter time.

Horticultural experts of the department of agriculture are now producing both bulbs and flowering plants of the Easter lily from seed.

Entirely New Line
Surplus seed and bulblets produced in lily propagation work at the government's Arlington experimental farm have been distributed to florists and private horticulturists. These are expected to grow an entirely new line of lily culture which ultimately will supply the American market fully without dependence on imported bulbs.

To date, however, the volume of bulbs and plants produced from seed is not enough of a factor to increase visibly the supply or reduce prices. In another year, however, American propagated lilies should be a controlling factor in stabilizing the prices of lilies at Easter time.

Just now, with increasing demand at the approach of Easter, prices are beginning to climb. Florists explain this by saying there is a shortage of imported bulbs due to floods in Japan. Government horticulturists here say they have no advice as to floods in Japan affecting the lily bulb supply.

On the contrary, they point to the statistics covering importations and show that the volume of lily bulbs of all sorts imported so far this year is about one-third, or more than $1,000,000 more than for the same period a year ago.

Not Difficult

gardeners say, and can be undertaken by any lover of flowers with good chances of success.

In fact, there is no good reason why the Easter lily, in the greater part of the United States, cannot be made a home flower, available to everybody at Easter-time, instead of a high-priced, artificially forced hot-house bloom.

BUSY PROGRAM FOR GIRLS' CITY CLUB

With the passing of the Lenten season and the advent of the pleasant spring weather, numerous festivities are being arranged by the busy program committee of the Girls' City Club.

The club dances will resume Saturday evening, April 15. During the week members will secure the customary invitations for their friends.

On the holiday, April 19, there will be a truck ride for members. The party will leave the club at 9 a. m., visit Bunker Hill and the Charlestown navy yard, going through a battleship if one is in that day. In the afternoon they will attend the parade and celebration at Lexington and Concord, visiting places

TO DARKEN HAIR
APPLY SAGE TEA

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store, all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning, all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Adv.

REPUBLICAN HAGGLING

The country is getting sick of the bootless haggling at Washington. There is a feeling of impatience all over this country on account of the delays of the republican party in passing reconstructive legislation. It seems that the republican majority finds it very difficult to reach a definite decision on any public question. This has been clearly shown by the haggling over the bonus bill, which pleases nobody and is framed to save the face of the republican leaders who had promised to pass a bonus measure that would compensate the service men for their sacrifices overseas.

The manufacturers of the country are held in a state of suspense on account of the delays upon the tariff measure. At first the republicans passed an emergency law that was allowed to go through, although it was generally admitted to have very grave defects. When the life of that measure had expired, the leaders of Washington were not ready to pass a general tariff bill. Therefore, they extended the life of the emergency measure, which is still in force, although admittedly injuring business in several important respects. There is no telling when the general tariff bill will be completed and it may go over till the fall and be carried into the winter, thus prolonging the business depression and widespread unemployment.

On the matter of cutting down the navy, there is another conflict with nobody ready to decide just what is the proper course to pursue. Congress is also haggling over this question as it did over the bonus; and President Harding has not the ability to offer any light on the general subject.

The ships of the merchant marine are still idle, and a committee of congress is soon to start hearings upon a measure proposing a subsidy and the transfer of the ships to private ownership. It is very clear that under the present policy the United States flag would soon disappear from the seas, so far as our merchant marine is concerned.

This feeling of disappointment over the work of the administration at Washington, has reached the various states and perhaps none feels it to a greater extent than Massachusetts. That explains why there is such opposition to Senator Lodge, who, in a speech recently, tried to shift the blame to the democrats. On the contrary, the democrats have aided the administration in passing whatever reconstructive measures have been placed on the statute books. Our senator may not appreciate how deeply the people of this state resent his support of Senator Newberry and the condemnation of that official's corrupt election. This issue will doubtless be brought to the front in the campaign against the senator which promises to be one of the most lively in the history of the state. The senator himself evidently realizes this and he is losing no opportunity to strengthen his political fences.

As manipulator and general director of the republican machine, Senator Lodge is largely responsible for the disappointing record of the republican party in congress since its return to power; and in his campaign next fall he will have much to explain and little in the line of tangible results to show in the party record. Beyond doubt the senator is likely to have the hottest campaign in his political career and there are many republicans in this state who will join forces that will oppose his re-election.

MR. COLLINS' WARNING

In spite of the cutting of railroads and kidnapping the engineer of a train to prevent him from speaking on Sunday, Michael Collins addressed a large conference of people at Westford and issued a solemn warning that unless the opponents of the treaty change their tactics very soon, nothing short of a miracle can avert civil war.

The truth of that statement must be plain to everybody who has watched the course of events during the past few weeks or since Mr. de Valera, speaking at Killarney, made the threat that in case the treaty were adopted, the republican forces might have to march over the dead bodies of their brothers and come through Irish blood.

At that time the statement was not taken seriously, but the lack of a military dictatorship since then, has led the people to conclude that Mr. de Valera means to use force against the Free State government if established.

That is why Mr. Collins issues the warning that persistence in such a policy will bring on the horrors of civil war with the result that England will return; and if that should happen, she could again rivet the shackles on Ireland and the world would say she was justified.

The one great danger is just as Mr. Collins stated it on Sunday: If civil war breaks out, England will go back to restore her government and either will be converted into a British state or will be converted into a British state.

In the past the policy of the Irish leaders was to take all they could get in the line of concessions from England and keep on fighting for more; but none of them at any time not even Grattan got any measure of freedom at all approaching that provided for under the Irish treaty.

for a public meeting. If it is not stopped outright, measures are taken to prevent his attendance and to keep the people from hearing him.

It is hoped that the councils of peace will prevail and that the people may be allowed to settle the issue without interference at the polls. They assume a very grave responsibility who would do anything to plunge Ireland into civil strife and once more dash the cup of freedom from her lips.

There is one complaint in which the republicans seem to be justified and that is that it had been planned to use the voting list of 1918, instead of framing a new one. Some fears were expressed that under present conditions it would be impossible to secure a new register of voters that would be at all accurate or reliable. The old list would bar many of the young men who were engaged in the fighting during the two years prior to the truce. If possible, this grievance should be remedied.

THE LABORATORY

Our educational system is suffering from intellectual anemia, says Harry Allen Overstreet, New York college professor.

He thinks Americans have developed a standardized type of brain, resembling a sponge, unable to function without textbooks. In other words, students are not inclined to think for themselves. They want information poured into them with a funnel.

The system tends to produce imitators instead of creators. Professor Overstreet says that: "Ruling snails in your apartment teaches you more of the movement of life than doing Experiment 27 in the laboratory."

"The professor makes a great mistake if he underestimates the value of his laboratory in which most of our scientific problems are solved. Medical, electrical, and scientific research, the discovery of wireless and all the wonders have been first revealed mainly in the laboratory. There is a tendency to superficiality and to get away from the hard study required in mastering the classics and mathematics; but it is not this that Professor Overstreet seems to criticize.

UNDER SOVIET RULE

Few on this continent have suspected that we had a full-fledged soviet state in the peninsula of Yucatan, the part of Mexico that runs out into the gulf opposite the island of Cuba. From investigations made by a commissioner of the Knights of Columbus, it appears that a government has been set up in accordance with the principles of the Russian soviet—enforcing a system of free love, plurality of wives, 48 for each individual having been fixed as the maximum, and an almost total banishment of religion which is regarded as an enemy of soviet principles. Fees for marriage ceremonies are to be set as high as to be prohibitive and to force the free love regime.

This is a shocking state of affairs and its significance is the more alarming because it is liable to spread to other parts of Mexico. Several churches have been torn down while others have been confiscated and turned into stores and offices. It seems that this young soviet state has borrowed a leaf from the constitution of soviet Russia. It is a lapse back to the worst form of paganism.

A VANISHING TOWN

Windsor, N. H., is a town of fifteen inhabitants and yet it is obliged to maintain a town government with seven official jobs. Windsor was founded in 1798 in the heart of the New England deer country; but it did not seem to appeal to settlers and hence it did not keep pace with the other New Hampshire towns. Ten years ago, it had 65 registered male voters; but with a population reduced to fifteen, it has a town clerk, treasurer, selectmen, school board and board of health. The proportion of office holders in Windsor is about what the candidates would prefer in most cities and towns. But where people think their town or city owes them a living, there might be a little difficulty in such a case as that of Windsor where, under the assumption, eight voters would have to pay salaries to the seven office holders.

Hopedale, the home of the late George Burdett, is to have a splendid civic memorial building erected by the city of deceased on the site of his father's home. Hopedale owes much to the Burdett family and this gift to the town is a proof that the present representatives of the family are equally devoted to the interests of the town. The city or town that has a few such generous benefactors is fortunate.

The jump of 15 per cent in the cost of living since January 1 is not in harmony with the general process of deflation and the movement back to normalcy. It is an indication that the old price level will never be reached.

Premier Lloyd George is regarded by the world as the Moses to lead the nations out of the dismal swamp of industrial paralysis.

The new tariff law is likely to advance the price of many of the necessities of life. Sugar is one of the commodities that will take a jump.

It is time the repair men got busy on our streets. Some of them have so many holes and potholes as to be absolutely dangerous to motor vehicles.

To promote safety and convenience, teach to walk within the traffic lines and don't park any vehicle in front of a fire hydrant.

Evidently the school board will not break dictation from any source if there is another path open.

Thought for Today

A political victory, a rise in rents, the recovery of your place, or the return of your absent friend, or some other favorable event, raises your spirit. Do not believe it. Nothing can bring you peace but yourself. Nothing can bring you peace but the triumph of principles.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

A Word a Day

Today's word is exaggerate. It's pronounced ek-sig-ger-ate. With accent on the third syllable. It means—an explanation, an exposition, an analysis, especially a critical examination of a section from the Bible. It comes from—Greek exagelasthai, to explain. Companion word—exegesis. It's used like this—Most clergymen think a sermon should contain a carefully prepared exegesis of the text.

His Method

A certain wealthy and able lawyer, who handles things in a very important way, was in the government in important cases. It was while he was in Chicago in connection with one of these that he sat at a table in a restaurant with three other young lawyers who recognized him. The younger men were talking about college days, and their interests seemed to be more with fraternities and football games than with the case in hand. Finally one turned and asked rather patronizingly: "By the way, sir, what was your school?" "Haven't any," growled the lawyer, "I practice law by ear."—Detroit Free Press.

Fixing the Blame

"Here, there," yelled Constable Sam T. Shackleton, the redoubtable sixth of Putnam. "You knocked that innocent bystander down while he was perambulating about his business, ran over him, stopped, backed up, and passed ahead of him. You knocked him down. What in time do you mean by such doings?" "Why—doggone it!" cried the offending motorist, "he knew me, and he knew I was in a hurry, too, that this is the first time I've ever driven this car or any other, and yet, damn him, he went and got right in the way!"—Kansas City Star.

Bill Can't Have

My dress was awfully pretty, and when I got it home I put it on, and did my hair up on top of my head, the way Bill likes it, and I went in the kitchen where Bill was reading, and asked him if he didn't think the dress was pretty, and Bill looked at it and said "yes" and went on reading. So I went back in the bedroom and cried. Bill can't understand why, when I ask if my dress isn't becoming, or if he likes my hair the way, and he says "yes" and goes away. I don't exactly understand it myself, but I know I can't help it. The tears just come, hot and fast, and I get a lump in my throat, and have to run and hide. Of course, Bill always acts bewildered then, and says, "what the deuce is the matter?" and he makes a fuss of me and I quit crying and make up my face and he goes on minutes and we make it up and everything is all right. You'd think I'd be used to Bill by now, and know that he can't make a fuss of me and that a simple "yes" from him is more than a lot of fussing from some one else. Bill just can't have. Not to me, anyhow. Either there's something in me that makes it hard, but he never says much, and never will, and I am always disappointed because he doesn't. It seems to me that he never says much, and never will, and I am always disappointed because he doesn't. It seems to me that he never says much, and never will, and I am always disappointed because he doesn't.

Margaret Jackson in Farm Life.

The Jurymen to Her Shoes
(Suggested by the tale of seven women and five men locked up for two nights in a jury-room at St. Paul, Minn.)

If you're waking call me early, call me early, hubby dear,
For I'm awaking in a hurry, and the faithful day is here;
Pack my nights in my suit case, it's that rule one I've just pressed,
For we may be out till morning and I want to look my best.

You must wait to make the coffee, till the kettle's on the boil,
Scold on and scold on, till the kettle's on the boil,
And give her her coffee out;
Be sure hubby wears his rubbers, get five pounds of cooking primes,
And give her the kids a spanking if they stay out afternoons.

Don't forget the man with moonshine sent in, or something in him that makes it hard, but he never says much, and never will, and I am always disappointed because he doesn't. It seems to me that he never says much, and never will, and I am always disappointed because he doesn't. It seems to me that he never says much, and never will, and I am always disappointed because he doesn't.

Sell the soap grass to the pedler, scrub up all the collar boys,
Don't forget the baby's bottles (Oh, I told you that before);
If you read it in the papers that the jury disagree,
I'm not going to convict him, you can take it straight from me.

—C. B. W. in the Boston Herald.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

If the textile and leather workers' strikes continue for some weeks longer, the fishing season in Lowell and vicinity may open sooner than in previous years, for with so many men out of work it is probable that a great number of them will want to spend their time trying their luck with the rod and line on some of our favorite streams. I understand that some of the little men of Lowell are already preparing their tackle and before the end of the month some good catches may be made.

Hopedale, the home of the late George Burdett, is to have a splendid civic memorial building erected by the city of deceased on the site of his father's home. Hopedale owes much to the Burdett family and this gift to the town is a proof that the present representatives of the family are equally devoted to the interests of the town. ## Berton Braley's Daily Poem INCURABLE

The pessimist sneers at the optimist in a greatly superior way, And the pessimist writes his gloomy book and his gloomier problem play, And it is an awful bourgeois thing to doubt that his stuff is great, For doesn't it prove that man's a pawn in the grip of an evil fate? And isn't that Art with a capital A?—though all of the facts in sight Have mostly proved the pessimist wrong and the optimist mainly right!

For the pessimist monk swung by his tail from a calanode tree, "We are only monkeys at best," he said, "and monkeys we'll always be; And monkeys awing by their tails in trees and they are but built to walk And all this talk of a 'better race' is nothing at all but talk." But the optimist monkey said, "I'll try!" and he dropped from his favorite limb— And we belong to the human race because of some monks like him!

When the lighthouse gleams on the roughest rocks or the turbulent stream is spanned,
When the desert turns from an arid waste to a smiling and fruitful land,
When knowledge broadens and freedom grows—you'll find that a stubborn crew

Of wholly "incurable optimists" are making these fancies true;
Oh the pessimist groans and the pessimist sneers, while the optimist up and acts,
For if you only have faith enough you can do what you will with facts!

It is well to remember, however, that no one is allowed to fish in any stream of this state without first securing a fishing license from the city clerk or other persons authorized to issue such permits. The fishing license this year costs $1 instead of 50 cents as heretofore, and is issued only to citizens of this country or to aliens who pay taxes on real estate of $500 or more.

Is smoking permitted in the one-man cars when windows are opened? That is a question that a great many men of this city would like the officials of the Eastern Massachusetts Street railway to answer. Some time ago the board of health issued a new rule forbidding smoking on the new type of cars, but there is nothing included in the rule to indicate whether or not this is in effect only during the seasons that the cars are closed. Heretofore in the old type of semi-convertible cars, smoking was permitted during the summer months on the cross rear seats when the windows of the cars were opened, and the question now is whether that rule also applies to the one-man cars when the windows are open.

A resident of Pawtucketville has complained to the Man About Town that a number of boys in his district take pleasure in abusing his dog. Of course this man does not expect that the writer of this column is going to put a stop to the mischievous acts of these young rascals, but he wishes that this column could give them a fair warning that if they do not behave he is going to bring one or more of them into court on charges of cruelty to animals. Agent Richardson, I am told, takes up such cases and brings the youngsters into court.

Where is Rosemont terrace? I doubt if many of our city officials could tell without looking it up in the directory. But the people who reside on Rosemont terrace are complaining that they are neglected by certain city departments from which they should receive attention.

If there is a district in the city that needs improvement, it is certainly this Rosemont terrace in Pawtucketville. This is the large tract of land extending along the Merrimack river to Beaver brook and which is bounded by Conduit and Riverside streets. This land was developed a few years ago by a land company and at that time a small wooden bridge was erected across Beaver brook, giving the residents of the district easy access to West Centralville. Hundreds of houses were sold to residents of Lowell, most of whom are employed in the cotton mills, and for some time there was a building boom in the territory with the result that numerous comfortable little homes were erected.

The city extended its sewers through the district, water and gas mains were laid so as to give service. The Electric company has started stretching its wires across the district, but the city has never done a thing in the line of improving the streets.

Rosemont is located at a point much lower than Riverside street and as a result in the early spring season, the water from the thawing of the snow and ice on the higher district flows down in torrents to the center of the terrace and inasmuch as there is no drainage system, the district is a veritable mud hole from early spring until mid-summer and nothing is being done by the street department to relieve conditions.

Of course the city has a reason for not spending any money in the thoroughfare and that is that the streets in the locality are not accepted, but it seems to me that an exception should be made in this case and that a drainage system should be installed there in the interest of public health.

The residents of the district own their little homes, pay taxes as do all other property owners of the city and

SERMON AND MUSICAL PROGRAM

In the second service of the preaching mission series, Rev. Thomas F. Laite last night spoke on "Divine Compassion" in the First Presbyterian church. Rev. J. F. Speel, pastor of the Westminster United Presbyterian church, presided. An excellent musical program preceded the sermon.

The sermon was one of the most forceful and interesting of the series and brought the topic home to the listeners in a clear manner.

After the sermon a consecration service was held and several came forward and renewed the allegiance to Christ. It was announced that the mission services will continue through Thursday night. Rev. Joseph E. Kennedy, pastor of the First Presbyterian church will be the speaker tonight.

Baltimore Woman's Message to Mothers

At 520 W. Hayward ave, lives Mrs. Henry Johnson, who a few weeks ago wrote what may be termed a good message to all mothers. She said: "I have used Dr. Tru's Elixir for more than ten years and know it is good." She used Dr. Tru's Elixir, the True Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, to rid her children of worms. There is hardly a child but what needs Dr. Tru's Elixir for they all usually have worms when growing up. Mrs. Johnson appreciates what Dr. Tru's Elixir accomplishes. Your children will be in better health through its use.

FIRST TIME IN LOWELL

Devotion of Three Hours Agony at Sacred Heart Church Good Friday

For the first time in the history of this city the devotion of the three hours agony will be held at the Sacred Heart church on Good Friday evening from 8 to 9 o'clock. This devotion is intended to commemorate the three hours of suffering on the cross. It is of American origin, having been first practiced in Lima, Peru by Father Mesia, a Jesuit missionary. Rev. John Doherty, O.M.I., of the Sacred Heart church is in general charge of the unique service, and he has had printed a beautiful 30 page book containing all the prayers, etc., peculiar to the service. These will be distributed to all who attend the service. Fr. Doherty will be assisted by Rev. P. X. McGinn, O.M.I., and the sanctuary choir, under the direction of John Kelly, with John McMahon and Timothy Finnegan sustaining the solo. A relic of the true cross will be exposed on the altar during the service, after which it will be venerated.

NEW ADVERTISING MAN COMES TO TOWN

Mr. Edward J. Conroy, of Providence, R. I., a prominent advertising man, has been engaged by the Lowell

Gas Light company as manager of its sales and service department. Mr. Conroy has handled some of the biggest campaign drives undertaken in Rhode Island during the war. He has had a wide experience and notable success. He is a member of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World. He is a young man who has a reputation as a very successful hustler.

BIG NOVICE RACE AT THE KASINO

The novice race to be held at the Kasino tomorrow night promises to be a good one. Entries are coming in fast. This race is for skaters who have never competed in a race previously, and contestants will not have to wear any special racing suits. To be fair to all, however, the skaters will use only three rollers. So far eight skaters have entered and many more are expected to follow. The race will be run in heats. As none of the skaters, who enter will do any training, it will be a real novice race. It would not be surprising, according to the management, if as many as 15 skaters would be ready to start at the gun tomorrow night.

GOOD FRIDAY
A number of Lawrence merchants have arranged to close for three hours on Good Friday from 12 m. to 3 p. m. in commemoration of the three hours that Christ hung upon the cross. This is following the practice of the New York and London stock exchanges.

Figured in Famous Susan E. Geary Suit Case Murder Mystery 16 Years Ago

BOSTON, April 11.—"Doctor" Jane E. Bishop, 34 years of age, whose name was linked with the suit case murder mystery of 16 years ago in which Susan E. Geary proved to be the victim, is dead. Although her "mansions" and "private hospitals" were continually raided and she faced jury after jury on charges of illegal surgery, the sweet-faced woman had managed always to keep out of jail.

She lost a small sized fortune in speculation and paid out large sums in litigation. Yet she gave thousands of dollars to charity and her friends say that at least 25 young men have been legally adopted by her and given an education or a start in life. Mrs. Bishop's son-in-law, Louis W. Crawford, a confessed accessory in the disposal of Susan Geary's body, was sentenced to a long term in prison. Mrs. Bishop was discharged after being held as a witness in the case.

SUMMER UNIFORMS FOR THE POLICE

Acting Superintendent MacBrayne, of the police department, was in conference today with representatives of a clothing uniform house, relative to the new summer style uniforms for the entire department. The acting superintendent is inclined to favor a semi-military cut for the uniforms; this would do away with the belts used at present.

The police head is also in favor of a new uniform for motorcycle officers, and it is probable that it will be adopted. The uniform is of bottle green whipcord, full military officers' style, with Sam Browne belts and full armament worn on the outside. A proposition is under consideration by which the motorcycle officers will pay half the cost of the suit.

A recent addition has been made to the motorcycle squad in the person of M. J. Connors, a new appointee to the regular force. According to the acting superintendent's plans, five officers will be on duty in various parts of the city in the daytime, observing the method in which the traffic laws are carried out by drivers. One man will be on duty in the evening, to watch auto lights, supervise traffic, and make frequent visits to the boulevard. The squad is in charge of the senior officer, Charles Hamilton, and the other members are Bernard Judge, M. J. Connors, William Murphy, Walter Kivlan and Daniel Lynch.

REPARATION MOVEMENT
A colonization meeting under the auspices of the Canadian government was held in C.M.A.C. hall, Pawtucket street, last evening, the affair being attended by about 200 men and women. The speakers were J. N. Juras, a representative of the Quebec government; J. E. Laforce, general agent in this part of the country for the Canadian Pacific railroad; Rev. Fr. Boyer and Rev. Fr. Polier, missionaries in the Saskatchewan region. The speakers told of the advantages offered French-Canadians in the reparation movement, particularly in the Province of Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and the western part of the dominion.

The world's first baby show was held at Springfield, Ohio, in 1854.

RIPPER MURDER IN N. Y.

Body of Woman Found in Hall of Tenement on East Side Today

NEW YORK, April 11.—A ripper murder was added today to the growing list of crimes in New York city, when the nude body of Nellie Tracy, 40 years old, was found in the hall of a tenement on the east side near Chatham square. She had been slashed several times, apparently with a razor. Part of her clothing lay near the body. Residents said they had seen her walking with an unidentified man a few hours prior to the discovery of the crime. The police have no definite clues.

Free for This Visit

Never before has such an opportunity been given the sick of this vicinity, and if you are suffering, you should not fail to take advantage of it. The sick multitudes crowd his office from morning till night, and at every visit the young, the old, the rich, the poor, all apply to Dr. Naughton for relief, so those wishing to see him should remember the day, date and office hours of his visits and call early to avoid the crowded last hours.

Are you sick? Are you suffering? If so, call on him and take advantage of his skill and experience.

The rapidity with which he describes all diseases is truly wonderful and astonishes those who call upon him; and his extensive, practical experience enables him to determine whether a case is curable or whether it is incurable.

Not only will you be surprised at his wonderful knowledge of disease, his plain, concise explanation of cause and effect, but at the marvelous rapidity with which his common sense rational treatment goes to the seat of trouble, giving relief, and in all cases that have not progressed too far for a cure.

DON'T WAIT
THE SICK MULTITUDE CROWD HIS OFFICES from morning until night, and if you would avoid disappointment you should call early. Dr. Naughton makes regular visits to Lowell from time to time, to personally attend to his many patients who are unable to visit his Worcester offices.

Dr. Naughton will positively be at the NEW AMERICAN HOTEL, WEDNESDAY, April 12th, 1922, from 10.00 o'clock in the morning until seven o'clock in the evening to consult with and examine all cases personally.

TO EX-SERVICE MEN

MacNider Urges Men From Country to Go Back to Home Town and Get a Job

INDIANAPOLIS, April 11.—Ex-service men of the country were asked to go back to their home town and get a job, in an appeal which MacNider, national commander of the American Legion today asked the Associated Press to broadcast to the jobless veterans who he said, are congregating in the larger cities, where the unemployment situation is becoming worse. The legion's effort to find employment for the 700,000 ex-service men begun three weeks ago, is gaining in effectiveness, Mr. MacNider said.

The legion's advice, he declared, is: "Get back home. Get back among your own comrades. Get back among the people who have watched you grow from boyhood to manhood, and who naturally feel the greatest gratitude toward you for your service in the war. Back with the home folks lies your chance of honest, profitable employment among friends. Among strangers you cannot expect to be treated other than as a stranger. Other things being equal the boy from home will always be preferred and the stranger will be passed by."

AUTO ACCIDENT CASE IN SUPERIOR COURT

On December 7, 1921, automobiles owned by Joseph H. Roberge of Manchester, N. H., and Eugene P. McCarthy of Norwood came together in a crash at the junction of Highland avenue and Medford street, Malden. As a result suits were brought by both to recover for damages to their respective autos and in addition Mr. McCarthy sued to recover for alleged personal injuries. The cases were tried jointly before Judge Frederick Lawton and a jury in superior court today and after deliberation, which lasted just one hour and a half, verdicts for the defendants were brought in to cover both suits.

The cases were started yesterday afternoon and were given to the jury at 11:30 o'clock this morning. After the jury went out a recess was ordered until 2 o'clock. The jury reached its verdicts at 1 o'clock and brought them in sealed. The verdicts were read shortly after the opening of the afternoon session.

In his declaration Roberge claimed that he was driving his car on Medford street when McCarthy ran into him. He said the accident was the result of McCarthy's negligence. In his answer McCarthy made a general denial and claimed that Roberge was negligent in the operation of his auto. McCarthy brought his suit against Roberge and Toboy-Muir, Inc., trustees. He claimed that he was driving his car on Highland avenue when Roberge ran into him and not only caused great damage to his auto, but inflicted personal injuries. He sought to recover for mental and physical suffering. The defendant's answer is a general denial.

MISS GIBSON HONORED

Miss Loretta Gibson of 14 Smith avenue, who is soon to become the bride of Dr. Josiah of Newton, was tendered a miscellaneous shower at her home last evening, the affair being attended by many relatives and friends. In the course of the evening the hostess was presented numerous suitable gifts and a varied entertainment program was given. A feature of the evening was a mock marriage in which Miss Mildred Gibson acted the part of the bride, Miss Helen Kirk, the bridegroom, and Mrs. Charles LaRock, the clergyman. The wedding march was played by Miss Anna McEvoy. The other part of the program included vocal and instrumental selections by Mrs. LaRock, Mrs. Albert Brosseau and others. A buffet luncheon was served. The affair was in charge of Mrs. Frank Evans and Miss Mildred Gibson.

A police raid on a fashionable gambling house in London disclosed the fact that a young woman was regularly employed as croupier.

SHIP LINES SHIFT TO SAFE ROUTE

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Steamship traffic in the North Atlantic will be moved 40 miles south of the present double steamship lane through the danger zone of the Grand Banks under advisory instructions sent out by the hydrographic office. The east-bound traffic to Europe made the change, effective last Saturday. The west-bound lane will move April 15. It was decided that the shift, would be desirable at this time, although there has been as yet no menace of icebergs in the ship lanes.

The berg which sank the Titanic made its appearance in the steamship tracks on April 12, the disaster occurring on the night of that date. Navy officials generally were pleased at the attitude of the lines this year in deciding to switch to the safe routes without awaiting for the ice to compel such action.

Fifteen per cent of the business done in the average drug store of to-day is transacted at the soda fountain.

Storm Warnings Issued

WASHINGTON, April 11.—This storm warning was issued today by the weather bureau: Advisory: 10 a. m., southwest storm warnings displayed Cape Hatteras to Eastport, Me. Storm of marked intensity over the Great Lakes, moving northeastward, increasing southerly winds, will shift to westerly late tonight, or Wednesday, reaching gale force.

Daugherty and Federal Officials Confer

INDIANAPOLIS, April 11.—Conferences with federal officials here were resumed today by Attorney General Daugherty in furtherance of his effort to open the way for settlement of the nation-wide suspension of work in the coal industry. Mr. Daugherty indicated that the government is interested not only in settlement of the present strike situation, but in arriving at some cure for what he said seemed a "chronic trouble" in the industry.

Soviet Urges Discussion of Disarmament

GENOA, April 11.—(By the Associated Press)—George Chiteberin, head of the Russian soviet delegation to the economic conference issued a statement today declaring it useless to discuss the reconstruction of Europe without also discussing disarmament. Amelioration of present conditions is impossible while the "imperialistic countries" continue vast expenditures for the maintenance of large armies, he said.

Testimony Concluded in Arbuckle Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.—Testimony was concluded today in the third Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle manslaughter trial. Closing arguments are expected to take the rest of today's session and most of tomorrow, the case probably going to the jury tomorrow afternoon.

To Transfer 57 Hospitals

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Fifty-seven public health service hospitals treating disabled soldiers, are to be transferred to the veterans' bureau by executive order, effective May 1. President Harding, it was said today at the White House, now has the order before him and will sign it in a few days.

Flood Crest of 22 Feet

SPRINGFIELD, April 11.—A flood crest of 22 feet in the Connecticut River, the highest in several years, passed White River Junction, Vt., at midnight, and the lower reaches of the river rose today to new high points for the season, flooding lowlands at many points. Eleven feet seven inches of water was flowing over the dam at Bellows Falls, Vt. Government flood warnings sent out today, predict the highest water since 1915. A slightly higher rise will cut off highway traffic at points between Holyoke and Northampton.

MAHONEY MADE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

B. U. PROFESSOR

Plans Well Under Way for
Walsh Reception—Patriots
Day Observance

Principal Appointed to School of Education

He Will Also Act as Director
for Extension Courses in Education

PROF. JOHN J. MAHONEY

of education, Dean Arthur H. Wilde
announced yesterday.

Prof. Mahoney will also act as director
for extension courses in education,
which are to be given throughout the state under the joint auspices of the Boston University school of education
and the Harvard graduate school of education. This co-operative plan has been arranged to prevent competition
between the two schools in the field of public service. The facilities of
in this work.

Got Degree at Harvard

Phillips Andover academy. He received his bachelor of arts degree magna cum laude from Harvard in 1903, after specializing in the field of education and later took graduate work in the same institution. He is president of the International Council in Immigration, Education and of the American Institute of Instruction.

He has had wide experience as a teacher in the Massachusetts public schools. He was a teacher of English and director of the evening schools in Lawrence until 1912, was assistant superintendent of schools in Cambridge from 1912 to 1915 and was appointed
principal of the State Normal school
in this city in 1915. He has been in the Americanization department of the state department of education since 1919.

BUILDING HOUSES FOR WORKINGMEN

Sam Dean is building houses in Un-ham street in the Highlands and he expects to build quite a number of them. Asked relative to his latest enterprise, Mr. Dean said: "I am building houses for workingmen. They cannot afford to pay seven or eight thousand dollars for a house and I am going to try and build them within their means. I expect to be able to sell my houses for $4500. The workingman wants just as good a home as anybody, but he doesn't want to pay an exorbitant price and the price asked
for the average new house nowadays
is prohibitive, so far as the average
workingman is concerned."

"But I want you to understand, Mr.
Reporter, that I am not building cheap
houses. All the modern improvements
are included in my plans and I am supervising the job myself. I am paying union wages, 50 cents an hour and I am well satisfied with the quality and quantity of the work that the men are turning out. I do not anticipate that the venture will make me
rich, but I am going to build just as many houses as I can sell. The houses

SUN BREVITIES

Best printing, Tablin's, Associate bldg.
Buy De Lorme's hats, $3 up.
J. F. Donohoe, 222-223 Hildreth bldg., real estate and insurance. Telephone.
Wire frames for lamps and telephones. Electric shop, 62 Central st.
When you want needs that are tested and will grow, call at McManis's, 20 Prescott st.
Miss Elsie M. Lovejoy was tendered
a shower last night by a number of her friends, who gathered at the home of Miss Helen Casper, 72 Hildreth st.
She was the recipient of many pretty
and useful presents.

A leave of absence of six months has been granted Miss Helen V. Tompkins, child welfare nurse in the health department and Miss Sarah Fox
has been appointed temporary nurse
to serve until her return.

Plans for a dance to be given in a short time by the Nurses' alumnae of St. John's hospital were formulated at a meeting of the committee in charge
last night. The committee is as follows: Chairman, Miss Joan Lattin; Miss Margaret Cook, Catherine Bul-liven, Mary Woodhead, Catherine Kierce and Messrs. Harry Murray and Napoleon Milot.

Appropos the reception to United States Senator David I. Walsh next Sunday by Lowell Council, Knights of Columbus, it is stated that plans are rapidly being whipped into shape by Grand Knight John E. Hart for a most enthusiastic meeting. Past Grand Knight Andrew Molloy will be chairman of the reception committee, and the following named gentlemen will be associated with him on that committee: Thomas J. Beane, Dr. Richard J.
McClunkey, Hugh C. McCook, Charles J. Lander, O. D. L., George E. Hargan, P. G. K., Patrick O'Hearn, Edward J. Gallagher, William F. Thornton, P. G. K., James J. Gallagher, Dr. Hugh Walker, William H. Gallagher, Timothy F. Rohan, Edward Cavley and Thomas J. Fitzgerald.

With characteristic progressiveness,
the Knights are arranging a patriotic night and "amok" in observance of Patriots day on Tuesday evening, April
18. The speaker of the evening will be
Hon. Charles S. O'Connor of Boston,
an eloquent and scholarly speaker, who
will give expression to some of the thoughts which Patriots day suggests.
In addition, there will be a musical program and a collation.

The committee in charge of the musical oddity and dance on May 3 has elected Attorney James J. Brulha as floor marshal. Deputy Grand Knight
Roger J. Lang is chairman of the committee and is optimistic over the prospects for a most successful affair. This committee is to meet tonight to further plans.

HELD ANNUAL MEETING

Herbert W. Horne Elected
Y. M. C. A. President to Succeed Louis A. Olney

Herbert W. Horne last night was elected president of the Y.M.C.A. at the annual meeting of the association. He succeeds Louis A. Olney, who has served in this capacity for the past five years.

With President Horne, the following officers will serve: Vice president,
Donald M. Cameron; clerk, William H.
G. Wright; treasurer, Ivan O. Small;
directors for three years, Donald M.
Cameron, Abel R. Campbell, B. H.
Wiggins, A. F. French, William T.
Sheppard and C. T. Upton; for two years, James F. Fleming, Mr. Olney
also remains as a member of the board.

The annual report of the treasurer
showed that in 1921 the association
operated within its receipts and had a balance at the close of the fiscal year
of $732. All obligations were met.
The report of General Secretary H.
F. Howe was most interesting and
work accomplished during the year.

James H. Boyle, George Boyle, William
Clayton, Walter E. Stokes and Gerald Griffin. The burial was in the family
lot in St. Patrick's cemetery. There were many floral and spiritual offer-
rection of Undertakers James F.
O'Donnell & Sons.

McMULLEN—The funeral of the late Daniel P. McMullen, beloved son of Daniel and Bridget (Griffin) McMullen, took place this morning at 8 o'clock from the home of his parents, 28 Willie street and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The cortege proceeded to St.
Patrick's church where at 9 o'clock,
funeral high mass was sung by Rev.
Dr. James Supple. The choir, under the direction of Mr. Michael J. Johnson, rendered the Gregorian mass, the solos being sustained by Miss Frances Tighe and Mr. Fred Cummings. There was a profusion of beautiful floral
tributes and of spiritual bouquets. The burials were the following playmates
of deceased, Masters Harold Newton,
Leo Graham, George Laverly, John
Mullen, John Driscoll and John Cal-
lory. At the grave Rev. Father Supple
read the committal prayers and the
burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, in charge of Undertakers James F.
O'Donnell & Sons.

CELEBRATE—The funeral of Mrs.
Constanta Celebre took place last morning at 10 o'clock from her late home, 146 South st., and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Peter's church where at 9 o'clock, a funeral high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Peter Lin-chan. The choir sang the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Miss Mary Tyrone and James E. Donnelly. Miss Gertrude Quinley presided at the organ. There was a profusion of beautiful floral offerings. The hearers were Messrs. Pietro Traversi, Michael Della, John Dependa, Vincent Zabho, Anthony Volonino and Frank Loyola. Burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Father Lin-chan. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers M. H. McVann-ough Sons.

DEATHS—The funeral of Anna Dubois took place this morning at 10 o'clock from the home of her son, 64 Union street. Burial took place in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Jos. Sadowski.

ROURKE—The funeral of Mrs. Mary J. Rourke took place this morning from her late home, 27 Washington street, at 8:15 o'clock and was largely attended by relatives and friends. The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Peter's church, where a high mass of requiem was celebrated at 9 o'clock by Rev. John M. Janion. The choir sang the Gregorian mass, Miss Mary Tyrone and Mr. James E. Donnelly sustaining the solos. Miss Gertrude Quinley presided at the organ. There were many floral tributes and spiritual bouquets. The burials were Michael McCabe, Charles McCabe and Bernard McCabe, brothers of deceased, Thomas Wallwood, John Shanahan and Thomas Rourke. Interment was in St. Patrick's cemetery.
Rev. John M. Janion read the committal prayer. Undertaker Teller Savage in charge of funeral arrangements.

DECEASED—The funeral of Simonne Bellefeuille, infant daughter of Aldo and Bertha (Beaudiel) Bellefeuille, took place this morning at 11 o'clock from the home of her parents, 720 Bloody street. Services were conducted at St. Jean Baptiste church by Rev. L.
G. Bouchard, O.M.I., and burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers Amodeo Archambault & Sons.

PURCHASE OF FIRST STREET OVAL LAND

Mayor George H. Brown will confer
tomorrow with Arthur T. Safford, chief engineer of the Locks and Canals and
members of the board of park commissioners relative to the acquisition by
the city of the first street oval land.
The meeting has been arranged for 10
a. m. and will be held in the mayor's
reception room.
At the present time, the Locks and Canals favors acquisition by the seizure process, which means taking at the assessed valuation, plus 25 per cent.
The mayor would like to purchase outright and will attempt to obtain a price which would be lower than that involved in the seizure
method.

HIGHLAND CLUB MEETING TONIGHT

The annual meeting of the Highland club will be held at the club house in Princeton street tonight, with a dinner and entertainment for Boston. The business meeting will include the election of officers and it is believed that the present officers will be re-elected. Charles N. Woodward is president and Edward P. Woodward,
secretary and treasurer.

WATER RISING IN MERRIMACK RIVER

The Merrimack river has risen nearly
a foot in the past 24 hours and still is rising, according to measurements
of the locks and canals. The sudden rise is due to the unusually warm
weather of yesterday that extended
well up toward the headwaters of the river and melted snow still held there.
Yesterday the river was running
27,500 cubic feet per second over Pawtucket dam and today it is running better than 30,000 feet. The flow gauged at 10 o'clock today was nearly a foot higher than at the same time
yesterday.

LOCAL TEXTILE STRIKE NEW PATROL FOR POLICE DEPT.

Textile Council Officials Plan
Campaign to Raise Funds
for Strikers

Arrangements are being made by officials of the Lowell Textile council for the raising of funds for the local textile strikers and the activities of the organization will not be restricted to this city, for it is being planned to
towns in the commonwealth.

President John Hanley of the council stated today that the operatives
who have left their work as a protest against a 30 per cent reduction in wages will not return to their looms
until their fight has been won. "Of
air and considerable money is needed to look after the needs of close to 2000 people, and we purpose to extend our hand to our brethren in other cities who are fortunate enough to have employment."

The plan is to visit numerous cities
and towns and after securing permission from either the mayor or board of selectmen, to collect public subscriptions, and accordingly credentials
and Chief of Police MacBrayne.

The mayor's letter follows:
Mayors and Selectmen,
Cities and Towns of this Commonwealth.

Dear Sirs:
I would recommend John Hanley
and his authorized representatives as being thoroughly honest, reliable and of proven character. They are citizens in Lowell and law abiding and courtesy that you may extend to them
you may rest assured will be nothing that you will regret. If you desire
any further information, you may call
me on the telephone.

The letter from the chief of police
reads as follows:
Chief of Police,
Cities and Towns of this Commonwealth.

Gentlemen:
This letter will introduce Mr. John
Hanley, president of the Lowell Textile
Council of the United Textile
Workers of America or his authorized representatives who are visiting in certain cities in the interest of their members now involved in a strike in Lowell. I am glad to say in reference to Mr. Hanley and his associates that they are men of high character and standing in Lowell. That their cause is just and that they are without strife or trouble, and it is a pleasure
for me to recommend them to you.
I have known Mr. Hanley personally
for a long time. We have the utmost confidence in him as a leader in Lowell. Any courtesies extended to this gentleman will be appreciated by me.

SHE HAD PASSED THE CENTURY MARK

Mrs. Charlotte P. Smith, aged 103 years, 8 months and 2 days, one of the oldest persons in this part of the country, died yesterday at her home,
New Boston village, Dracut.

Deceased was born in Potton, Canada,
Jan. 8, 1820, the daughter of Ezra and Sarah Foster, and was one of 11 children.
She came to Lowell at an early age and in 1853 she was married to Horace Smith, the ceremony having been performed by Rev. Mr. Thomson, pastor of the Pawtucket Congregational church.
Soon after the marriage the couple purchased a farm in the New Boston village, Dracut, where Mrs. Smith lived until the time of her death. Mr. Smith
was killed in an accident at Wyman's
Exchange building, this city, 37 years
ago. She is survived by a foster daughter, Mrs. Elliott Morgan.

BIDS ARE RECEIVED ON CITY BONDS

The city treasurer today received bids on the purchase of $210,000 worth of city bonds and $500,000 of notes, the latter representing a loan in anticipation of revenue.

Of 12 bidders on the bonds, Harris
Forbes & Co. were high with a proposal of $107.73, while Black Bros. put in the best bid on the temporary loan notes.

The bonds are divided as follows:
Auditorium, $70,000; First street, $70,- 000; paving, $50,000; sidewalk construction, $20,000.
The following bids were received by Treasurer Fred H. Rourke: Harris
Forbes & Co., $107.73; Edmonds, Brothers, 100.62; Palmer, Weber & Co.,
$42.10, interest to follow; Old Colony
Trust Co., 100.53; Guaranty Co. of N. Y., 100.52; R. L. Day & Co., 100.52; Blodgett & Co., 100.21; Arthur Perry &
Co., 100.27; Eastbrook & Co., 100.21;
Curts & Sanger, 100.18.

This year on the $500,000 temporary loan were Black Bros., $50.70 discount per $1000, plus $5 premium;
F. S. Mosely & Co., $40.30 discount, or $42.10, interest to follow; Old Colony
